REDS LAUNCH MASSIVE OFFENSIVE

Reds Question Rhee's Pledge

Apparently Want More Guarantees

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 14 (AP) — Despite United States assurance that South Korea's President Syngman Rhee has put down in writing his consent to abide by a truce, the skeptical Reds showed every sign today of wanting more ironclad guarantees before they accept.

A broadcast last night by Red North Korea's Pyongyang radio said "agreement on the Korean truce appears to be in for a delay because of lack of sincerity on the part of the American side."

While the words went out over the air, up to 40,000 Red troops in East-Central Korea launched the biggest offensive since 1951.

The full-dress truce teams meet in another secret session at Panmunjom today at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Monday, EST).

Reds Apparently Probing

Outside the conference hut, it appeared that the Reds were probing for more information and at the same time declaring that so far the U. N. Command has not come up with anything acceptable.

Ironically, the only concrete announcement stemming from Monday's truce session didn't deal with armistice terms discussions. North Korean Gen. Nam Il, the chief Red truce delegate, lodged a protest with the Allied side, charging that Allied planes strafed and bombed a prison camp north of Pyongyang last Friday.

Although no official word has come out of the conference hut on what the Communist team is saying about the truce prospects, Red broadcasts and Red correspondents at Panmunjom have indicated a policy of wait-and-doubt.

Statement Called "Vague"

Red sources criticized as "vague" and unsatisfactory a joint statement issued Sunday by Rhee and President Eisenhower's special truce envoy, Walter S. Robertson. The statement had announced an understanding between the two after prolonged talks.

The Red criticism came when Rhee, after issuing the joint statement, was quoted by a newsman as saying the understanding had a 90-day time limit.

Informed sources in Tokyo and Seoul disclosed Monday that Rhee had given written assurances he would fall in behind a truce. They said nothing about a time limit.

Grotewohl Urges All East Germans To Turn Farmer

BERLIN, Tuesday, July 14 (AP)—Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl issued a desperate appeal today to the entire East German population to work on the farms to overcome "deficiencies in cultivation and preparation for the harvest."

The appeal, an admission of a worsening food shortage in the Red-ruled satellite, came after a special Cabinet session and while East Germans boiled with anger against the Kremlin's refusal of an American offer of food.

The Russian action stirred anti-Communist fury throughout the zone, for it meant that the Russians would play politics with hunger.

Refugees crossing to West Berlin said hatred of communism in East Germany had never been at whiter heat than now.

Plans To Balk Reds Studied

Thousands of tons of flour and fats were available in West Berlin warehouses for immediate delivery behind the Iron Curtain—if the Communists agreed.

American and West German officials, meanwhile, studied plans to get a 15 million dollar U. S. gift of food into East Germany despite the venomous rejection by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov last Saturday night of the American offer of food.

(In Washington, the White House said American food is being delivered to the East Germany frontier and that the offer still stands.

U. S. Army Ready To Help

(The Mutual Security Agency in Washington was not able to give plans on distributing the food but a spokesman said the first shipment from this country is expected to leave New York this week. Orders have been placed for tons of beans, peas, lard and dried milk.)

The U. S. Army confirmed that it had been ready to draw from its own large food reserve in Germany to help the Soviet zone if the Reds had accepted the aid.

He Missed Pullet But Got Surprise

TAYLORSVILLE, N. C., July 13 (AP)—Boyd Adams picked up his .22 rifle yesterday and walked out into his mother-in-law's back yard to kill a chicken for dinner. He aimed at a big pullet and fired.

Results: a nearby storage building blew to pieces. Window panes in the farm house were blown out. Chimneys were shaken and damaged. Adams was tossed 30 feet. Windows in Taylorsville, 2½ miles away, rattled.

The bullet had ricochetted and set off five cases of dynamite in the storage building. It was to have been used for blasting ditches and stumps.

The pullet? Unruffled.

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP) — The Navy reported today that the heavy cruiser St. Paul was slightly damaged by Communist shore battery fire off Wonsan on the East Coast of Korea Saturday.

British Clamp Ring Of Steel On Suez Town

Egyptian Forces Are Called Out In Crisis Over Missing Tommy

ISMAILIA, Egypt, July 13 (AP)—British soldiers clamped an iron ring of armored cars and machine guns around this strategic Suez Canal zone town today to force the return of a missing Tommy.

The British here charged that the soldier, Leading Aircraftsman A. V. Rigden, was abducted last Thursday by what they called an Egyptian "bad boy" and called on Egypt to return him by 9 o'clock (3 a.m. EST) this morning.

The Egyptian government denied it knew anything about his disappearance. When the deadline passed without a sign of Rigden, 300 British troops moved into position and announced they would search all civilians entering and leaving Ismailia until he returns.

Egyptian Counter-Measures

The Egyptians took prompt counter-measures, moving units of the Egyptian Army to posts around all government buildings in the town.

There was no immediate violence and the forces of the two governments settled down to watchful waiting.

Reaction was quick in both Cairo and London.

President Naguib discussed the situation for 2½ hours with his Cabinet at an emergency meeting. He met next with members of Egypt's Army Revolutionary council and was believed to have discussed Egypt's next move. Members of both groups were tightlipped after the meetings.

London Rejects Protests

(In London, the British government curtly dismissed Egypt's protests that she knows nothing about the missing airman. Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons the British military authorities in the Suez Canal zone "have strong grounds for believing one of the two Egyptians seen with Leading Aircraftsman A. V. Rigden was an officer and that the Egyptian authorities therefore knew about the incident."

(Lloyd did not say how long the British search measures would be carried on in Ismailia but his statement was greeted by approving cheers. Acting Cabinet leader Richard A. Butler called a special meeting of ministers this morning to consider the emergency. It was clear that the British are preparing for real action should the need arise.)

Man Spends Weekend In Elevator Shaft

NEWARK, N. J., July 13 (AP) — Anthony de Palma, 43, went to investigate noises in his factory building and was trapped 40 hours over the week end at the bottom of an elevator shaft.

Rescued today, he explained he had taken the elevator to the fourth floor of the loft building Saturday afternoon and it jammed. He is a button worker in the building.

When he couldn't get it started again, De Palma climbed through the elevator escape hatch and slid down the grease-covered cables. But he couldn't stop and wound up at the bottom of the shaft.

There he stayed until a woman worker heard his cries for help at 6 a.m. (EST) today.

Jose Ferrer Weds Rosemary Clooney

DURANT, Okla., July 13 (AP) — Jose Ferrer, motion picture Academy Award winner, and Rosemary Clooney, popular singer, were married at noon here today.

They slipped away from Dallas, where Ferrer has been appearing in a musical play, and were married by a county judge.

Ferrer's first wife was granted a divorce in Juarez, Mexico, last week.

Miss Clooney had been an almost nightly spectator at the musical, "Kiss Me Kate," in which Ferrer was starred.

Pa. Sales Tax Law Signed By Governor

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 13 (AP) —Gov. John Fine today signed into law a one per cent retail sales tax for Pennsylvania.

The levy, designed to raise 125 millions in the next two years, goes into effect Sept. 1. It makes Pennsylvania the 35th state to impose a sales tax.

Pen Revolt Appears Over As Prisoners Accept Food

SALEM, Ore., July 13 (AP)—The revolt at the Oregon Penitentiary appeared near its end today. Some 900 convicts who started a strike four days ago docilely accepted food, and guards prepared to return them to their cells.

Three days in the open yard under the rifles of armed guards on the walls tamed the rebellious spirit which brought a sitdown strike Friday and $100,000 worth of rioting Saturday.

Three buildings were destroyed by fire in the rioting, but this was the last real threat in the revolt. Massed guards used tear gas and bullets to break up the rioting. One prisoner suffered a leg wound. The rest were herded into a 100 by 150-yard baseball field that was surrounded by a high fence and walls.

The men remained there without food or water until last night, when they sent word to the warden that they were ready to give up.

There was one spark of rebellion left.

After Warden Clarence T. Gladden gave them soup and bread and had returned 125 men to their cells, the remaining 900 in the baseball field began taunting guards and shouting, "Now we've got the warden on the run."

The warden immediately shut the gates to the field, and the remaining men who had spent two hot days in the sun, had to spend another night in the open with a chill breeze blowing. The warden, however, allowed them to have water.

Guards said that by mid-morning the men were ready to give up. The warden made no move, though, until afternoon, when he ordered sandwiches and coffee sent to the men, and started preparations for their return to cells.

Crash Victims' Bodies Found

Rosemary Clooney, Jose Ferrer Wed

Big 3 Agree On Problems Of Cold War

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers were reported tonight to have reached a "wide field of agreement" on cold war problems.

An American spokesman who reported this declined to say, however, whether any agreement on a possible Big Four meeting with Russia was in prospect.

A high British official earlier said his government is willing to delay any top-level Big Four meeting with Russian Premier Malenkov until after the West German election scheduled for Sept. 6. But Britain regards such a meeting as inevitable, he said, and does not believe it should be put off too long.

American - British - French agreements drafted during the current talks were reportedly discussed at a two-hour meeting late this afternoon and later cabled to London and Paris for clearance.

These accords involve Eruope, Germany and the Far East, according to informants, and presumably will be part of the communique to be issued tomorrow after a final afternoon meeting of the foreign ministers.

Secretary of State Dulles and Lord Salisbury acting British foreign secretary, are to sit down together in the morning in a second effort to settle Britain's bitter dispute with Egypt over the Suez Canal base.

Dulles in discussing Far East problems, told his British and French colleagues a Korean armistice "is now possible if the Communists want one," a State Department spokesman said.

Bandits Bring Grub

LONDON, July 13 (AP) — Bandits spent a weekend inside a suburban bank tackling the strong room door. Police said the bandits brought beer and sandwiches to eat while they worked.

Congress Approves Aid Bill Carrying Withholding Clause

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The House and Senate approved a $5,157,000,000 foreign aid program today but directed President Eisenhower to withhold one billion from six European countries unless they unite behind an international army.

The House acted first, passing by a roll-call vote of 221 to 109 a compromise bill worked out by a special Senate-House committee. The Senate followed quickly with a voice vote of approval and without further debate.

The legislation is an authorization bill which sets a ceiling, 314 million dollars lower than Eisenhower requested, on mutual security spending for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Talk Of Another Cut

Congress will have to pass another bill to appropriate the money. There is talk of a two billion dollar cut when this measure comes before the legislators.

In tying strings on approximately 20 per cent of the foreign aid funds, Congress hoped to spur France, Italy, Western Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg into establishing the European Defense Community, a cornerstone of American policy in free Europe.

Only Germany has ratified the community agreement. Its main provision is for an international army in which Western Germans would march.

House Initiated Provision

The EDC ultimatum follows mainly the language of an earlier House provision which was accepted by the senators on the compromise committee.

The House voted after acting Chairman Vorys (R-Ohio) of the Foreign Affairs Committee stressed that "Europe must unite" if it wants to continue receiving United States military aid.

Rep. Richards of South Carolina, top Democrat on the Foreign Affairs Committee, said the withholding arrangement means "We are through with military aid to the six nations of the European Defense Community, except through EDC." He sponsored the restrictive clause.

Godfrey To Return To Air This Month

MIAMI, Fla., July 13 (AP) —Arthur Godfrey will return to the air with his radio and TV programs this month, probably next week, his attorney in this area, Ernest L. Duhaime, said today after visiting with the Godfreys at Leesburg, Va.

The attorney reported that Godfrey will be on crutches from his recent hip operation for some time, but is building facilities at Leesburg to begin his broadcasts there.

Knowland Sees ROK Pact Delay

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he expects the Senate to delay action until next year on a proposed mutual defense treaty with the Republic of South Korea.

The U. S. offer of such a treaty formed part of the consideration in South Korean President Syngman Rhee's agreement to go along on truce efforts.

Knowland, the acting Senate GOP leader, said the question of Senate ratification of such a pact may be discussed at a White House meeting of legislative leaders with President Eisenhower tomorrow.

In advance of the return here of Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state who negotiated the agreement with Rhee, Knowland said he does not believe the Senate will be pressed for action on the treaty in the present session, which leaders hope to wind up July 31.

Monroney Demands Senate Showdown On M'Carthy Issue

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Sen. Monroney (R-Okla) hotly attacked the investigative methods of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on the Senate floor today and challenged the wisdom of letting McCarthy investigate the supersecret Central Intelligence Agency.

An inquiry into the CIA, he said, would "disclose to our enemies information that even the best spy apparatus of the Kremlin" could not get.

The Oklahoma senator, in a speech bristling with scorn, demanded that the senators stand up and be counted in a showdown on the McCarthy issue.

The entire Senate, he said, should be willing to take "full responsibility" for the acts of McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee, from which all three Democratic members have walked out, and for all othe Senate committees.

"We cannot wash our hands of this ultimate responsibility" Monroney declared. "Every senator should assume the responsibility of voting for or against a McCarthy investigation of the CIA. We should welcome the right to give the full-steam-ahead signal, or vote against it."

"For myself, I would vote against it."

Monroney, a 51-year-old former newspaperman now serving his first term in the Senate, said McCarthy had invaded the fields of other Senate committees in quest of "greater headline opportunities."

Earlier in the day, McCarthy reported he had uncovered evidence of "an alleged $150,000 shakedown" against a friendly foreign government by State Department employes under former Secretary Acheson's regime.

"I don't know how many split the money," McCarthy told newsmen. "But the $150,000 was collected."

The Wisconsin senator declined to give any details, including the name of the country or the employes involved.

Mass Sex-Slayer Due To Hang Tomorrow

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—Britain's home secretary ruled today there are no grounds for a reprieve for mass sex - slayer John Christie whose hanging has been fixed for Wednesday morning.

Sir David Maxwell Fyfe made the announcement after receiving a report of five mental specialists who had examined Christie in his cell at Wandsworth Prison. Counsel for Christie had appealed for mercy on the ground he was insane.

Nominations Approved

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee today approved the following nominations:

Arthur W. Crocker of Maryland to be assistant commissioner of patents;

Byron Carpenter of Maryland to be examiner in chief in the patent office.

Hope For Any Of 58 Aboard Plane Ebbing

HONOLULU, July 13 (AP) — The Navy transport Barrett radioed today she had recovered five bodies and was picking up more 350 miles east of Wake where a four-engine airliner plunged into the Pacific Saturday night with 58 aboard.

The transport reported "sharks were attacking the bodies."

The Barrett reported that one of the victims had died "from flash burns, multiple fractures and contusions" — indicating that the Transocean Airlines DC6B crashed and burned, or exploded.

It was yet another sign that all 58 probably had perished.

The Barrett said her small boats were continuing to pick up bodies and search for others.

The Navy transport earlier had radioed there was "no indication of survivors," but search planes continued to sweep the area in hopes that some of the 50 passengers and eight crewmen survived.

The transport Barrett's crew began pulling bodies out of the sea at a point where it had found three of the plane's five rafts—the only means of survival for those aboard the ill-fated DC6B.

Suitcases and women's shoes floated about the ship.

Although hopes were slender, the Hawaiian Sea Frontier ordered planes to switch their search to the area west of the Barrett's position.

Rafts, Then Bodies, Found

The Barrett began unfolding the tragedy as darkness fell Sunday.

It came upon an empty, inflated raft, floating seat cushions—and 30 to 40 gasoline and oil slicks.

Today the Barrett found a second raft. This one was deflated and partly submerged, seven miles northeast of the first raft.

Next the bodies were sighted.

While crewmen went about the sad mission of pulling bodies from the sea, others on the Barrett reported sighting one more life raft in the midst of "floating suitcases and women's shoes."

The Barrett's discoveries were made only about 30 miles from the point where the plane radioed late Saturday night without any indication of trouble. Those aboard included civilian workers, their wives and children bound from Guam for the U. S. for summer vacation.

At Least 3 Killed In Bomber Crash

NORFOLK, Va., July 13 (AP) — A Navy seaplane crashed in the ocean today while engaged in antisubmarine training exercises, killing three of its crew. Four crewmen survived the crash and four others were missing three hours after it occurred.

The Marlin patrol bomber plunged into the ocean and sank 25 miles east of Cape Henry. The four survivors, on a life raft, were spotted by the submarine Ray and were picked up by the destroyer McNair. The destroyer also recovered three bodies from the water.

The McNair, which had sailed from Norfolk this morning for a reserve midshipmen cruise to Europe, turned about and headed for Norfolk with the survivors and the bodies. There was no immediate word on the condition of the survivors.

70,000 Enemy Troops Crack U.N. Battleline

One ROK Division Overrun, 3 Others Fighting For Lives

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 14 (AP)—The Chinese Communists in their greatest offensive in two years hurled possibly 70,000 troops against 18 miles of the East-Central Korean Front today and forced at least one South Korean division to retreat.

The size and violence of the Red onslaught—a throwback to the old war of movement halted by two years of truce talks—threatened to breach a major gap in the Allied battle line.

Censorship prohibited disclosure of the extent of the Red gain.

"There were simply too many of them for us to stop," a U. S. adviser with the stricken South Korean division said. "They overran some of our people and some of them got behind us."

Aimed At Flattening Bulge

Three other South Korean divisions were fighting for their lives across a mountainous sector from Kumhwa east to the Pukhad River.

No American divisions were under attack.

Front-line officers reported the situation was serious.

The Chinese drive apparently was aimed at flattening the "Kumsong bulge" which has thrust into Red lines since Gen. James A. Van Fleet hammered it out in his last big offensive in the fall of 1951.

A spokesman for the stricken Republic of Korea division insisted it still was in control of its sector of the front running northeast of bloody Sniper Ridge. Sniper itself was just out of action to the west.

Fighting was savage and hand-to-hand at many points.

ROKs Counter-Attack

The South Korean division that bore the heaviest weight of the onslaught and was forced to pull back was a crack, battle-tested outfit. Its job was guarding the critical Kumwha Road network leading in all directions into South Korea.

Time and again the rugged ROKs counter-attacked recklessly in a massive effort to roll back the attacking Chinese waves. Thunderous Red artillery barrages crashed against the deep-dug South Korean lines.

Farther east the attack was somewhat lighter but heavy enough to be termed serious everywhere.

"We are counter-attacking everywhere," the other South Korean divisions reported.

A dawn rain dimmed hope that could help slow the onslaught.

Allied Line Infiltrated

At one point the Communists managed to shove infiltrators into a rear area but there was no indication how deep the break had been.

"We have some enemy — not many — in our rear," one U. S. officer reported. He was an advisor to South Korean troops.

Northeast of Sniper Ridge, on the Central Front where the main Red blows were falling in an unceasing attack, some Allied positions were reported lost by 5 a.m. today (3 p.m. Monday, EST).

Counter-attacking South Koreans managed to regain some of the lost ground.

"Along the fighting front itself the situation is very confused at this time," another U. S. officer said.

Appeal To President

Trapped Yanks Evacuated By New Armored Vehicles

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Tuesday, July 14 (AP)—The Army lifted secrecy today on how it evacuated U. S. 7th Division soldiers safely along a perilous dirt road winding south from abandoned Porkchop Hill under heavy Communist shelling.

A division of Chinese artillery had the road zeroed in on its sights and it was considered a virtual highway of death.

The Army said the feat was accomplished by use of America's newest armored personnel carrier—the T18—for the first time in battle.

The full-tracked vehicles, sheathed and roofed with tough armor plate, brought back wounded and sound soldiers—and some of the dead—left on Porkchop in the last hours of the gallant U. S. stand.

The armored vehicles rumbled up to the hill's remaining defenders in daylight, under direct view and fire from the Communists.

Mortar shells, artillery rounds, machine-gun, and rifle bullets pounded the carriers in this first trial under heavy fire. Only one vehicle was seriously damaged.

"The evacuation proceeded without casualties," the 7th U. S. Division announced.

Their engines growling at full power, the carriers backed up to the caves and bunkers to load on the Americans.

The carriers returned to Porkchop with engineer teams that blasted bunkers and caves before the Chinese could occupy them. The carriers hold about 25 men, but the number employed in the operation is security information.

Big 3 Agree On Problems Of Cold War

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers were reported tonight to have reached a "wide field of agreement" on cold war problems.

An American spokesman who reported this declined to say, however, whether any agreement on a possible Big Four meeting with Russia was in prospect.

A high British official earlier said his government is willing to delay any top-level Big Four meeting with Russian Premier Malenkov until after the West German election scheduled for Sept. 6. But Britain regards such a meeting as inevitable, he said, and does not believe it should be put off too long.

American - British - French agreements drafted during the current talks were reportedly discussed at a two-hour meeting late this afternoon and later cabled to London and Paris for clearance.

These accords involve Eruope, Germany and the Far East, according to informants, and presumably will be part of the communique to be issued tomorrow after a final afternoon meeting of the foreign ministers.

Secretary of State Dulles and Lord Salisbury acting British foreign secretary, are to sit down together in the morning in a second effort to settle Britain's bitter dispute with Egypt over the Suez Canal base.

Dulles in discussing Far East problems, told his British and French colleagues a Korean armistice "is now possible if the Communists want one," a State Department spokesman said.

Bandits Bring Grub

LONDON, July 13 (AP) — Bandits spent a weekend inside a suburban bank tackling the strong room door. Police said the bandits brought beer and sandwiches to eat while they worked.

Congress Approves Aid Bill Carrying Withholding Clause

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The House and Senate approved a $5,157,000,000 foreign aid program today but directed President Eisenhower to withhold one billion from six European countries unless they unite behind an international army.

The House acted first, passing by a roll-call vote of 221 to 109 a compromise bill worked out by a special Senate-House committee. The Senate followed quickly with a voice vote of approval and without further debate.

The legislation is an authorization bill which sets a ceiling, 314 million dollars lower than Eisenhower requested, on mutual security spending for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

Talk Of Another Cut

Congress will have to pass another bill to appropriate the money. There is talk of a two billion dollar cut when this measure comes before the legislators.

In tying strings on approximately 20 per cent of the foreign aid funds, Congress hoped to spur France, Italy, Western Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg into establishing the European Defense Community, a cornerstone of American policy in free Europe.

Only Germany has ratified the community agreement. Its main provision is for an international army in which Western Germans would march.

House Initiated Provision

The EDC ultimatum follows mainly the language of an earlier House provision which was accepted by the senators on the compromise committee.

The House voted after acting Chairman Vorys (R-Ohio) of the Foreign Affairs Committee stressed that "Europe must unite" if it wants to continue receiving United States military aid.

Rep. Richards of South Carolina, top Democrat on the Foreign Affairs Committee, said the withholding arrangement means "We are through with military aid to the six nations of the European Defense Community, except through EDC." He sponsored the restrictive clause.

Godfrey To Return To Air This Month

MIAMI, Fla., July 13 (AP) —Arthur Godfrey will return to the air with his radio and TV programs this month, probably next week, his attorney in this area, Ernest L. Duhaime, said today after visiting with the Godfreys at Leesburg, Va.

The attorney reported that Godfrey will be on crutches from his recent hip operation for some time, but is building facilities at Leesburg to begin his broadcasts there.

Knowland Sees ROK Pact Delay

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said today he expects the Senate to delay action until next year on a proposed mutual defense treaty with the Republic of South Korea.

The U. S. offer of such a treaty formed part of the consideration in South Korean President Syngman Rhee's agreement to go along on truce efforts.

Knowland, the acting Senate GOP leader, said the question of Senate ratification of such a pact may be discussed at a White House meeting of legislative leaders with President Eisenhower tomorrow.

In advance of the return here of Walter Robertson, assistant secretary of state who negotiated the agreement with Rhee, Knowland said he does not believe the Senate will be pressed for action on the treaty in the present session, which leaders hope to wind up July 31.

Monroney Demands Senate Showdown On M'Carthy Issue

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Sen. Monroney (R-Okla) hotly attacked the investigative methods of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on the Senate floor today and challenged the wisdom of letting McCarthy investigate the supersecret Central Intelligence Agency.

An inquiry into the CIA, he said, would "disclose to our enemies information that even the best spy apparatus of the Kremlin" could not get.

The Oklahoma senator, in a speech bristling with scorn, demanded that the senators stand up and be counted in a showdown on the McCarthy issue.

The entire Senate, he said, should be willing to take "full responsibility" for the acts of McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee, from which all three Democratic members have walked out, and for all othe Senate committees.

"We cannot wash our hands of this ultimate responsibility" Monroney declared. "Every senator should assume the responsibility of voting for or against a McCarthy investigation of the CIA. We should welcome the right to give the full-steam-ahead signal, or vote against it."

"For myself, I would vote against it."

Monroney, a 51-year-old former newspaperman now serving his first term in the Senate, said McCarthy had invaded the fields of other Senate committees in quest of "greater headline opportunities."

Earlier in the day, McCarthy reported he had uncovered evidence of "an alleged $150,000 shakedown" against a friendly foreign government by State Department employes under former Secretary Acheson's regime.

"I don't know how many split the money," McCarthy told newsmen. "But the $150,000 was collected."

The Wisconsin senator declined to give any details, including the name of the country or the employes involved.

Mass Sex-Slayer Due To Hang Tomorrow

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—Britain's home secretary ruled today there are no grounds for a reprieve for mass sex - slayer John Christie whose hanging has been fixed for Wednesday morning.

Sir David Maxwell Fyfe made the announcement after receiving a report of five mental specialists who had examined Christie in his cell at Wandsworth Prison. Counsel for Christie had appealed for mercy on the ground he was insane.

Nominations Approved

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary committee today approved the following nominations:

Arthur W. Crocker of Maryland to be assistant commissioner of patents;

Byron Carpenter of Maryland to be examiner in chief in the patent office.

Hope For Any Of 58 Aboard Plane Ebbing

HONOLULU, July 13 (AP) — The Navy transport Barrett radioed today she had recovered five bodies and was picking up more 350 miles east of Wake where a four-engine airliner plunged into the Pacific Saturday night with 58 aboard.

The transport reported "sharks were attacking the bodies."

The Barrett reported that one of the victims had died "from flash burns, multiple fractures and contusions" — indicating that the Transocean Airlines DC6B crashed and burned, or exploded.

It was yet another sign that all 58 probably had perished.

The Barrett said her small boats were continuing to pick up bodies and search for others.

The Navy transport earlier had radioed there was "no indication of survivors," but search planes continued to sweep the area in hopes that some of the 50 passengers and eight crewmen survived.

The transport Barrett's crew began pulling bodies out of the sea at a point where it had found three of the plane's five rafts—the only means of survival for those aboard the ill-fated DC6B.

Suitcases and women's shoes floated about the ship.

Rafts, Then Bodies, Found

The Barrett began unfolding the tragedy as darkness fell Sunday.

It came upon an empty, inflated raft, floating seat cushions—and 30 to 40 gasoline and oil slicks.

Today the Barrett found a second raft. This one was deflated and partly submerged, seven miles northeast of the first raft.

Next the bodies were sighted.

While crewmen went about the sad mission of pulling bodies from the sea, others on the Barrett reported sighting one more life raft in the midst of "floating suitcases and women's shoes."

The Barrett's discoveries were made only about 30 miles from the point where the plane radioed late Saturday night without any indication of trouble. Those aboard included civilian workers, their wives and children bound from Guam for the U. S. for summer vacation.

At Least 3 Killed In Bomber Crash

NORFOLK, Va., July 13 (AP) — A Navy seaplane crashed in the ocean today while engaged in antisubmarine training exercises, killing three of its crew. Four crewmen survived the crash and four others were missing three hours after it occurred.

The Marlin patrol bomber plunged into the ocean and sank 25 miles east of Cape Henry. The four survivors, on a life raft, were spotted by the submarine Ray and were picked up by the destroyer McNair. The destroyer also recovered three bodies from the water.

The McNair, which had sailed from Norfolk this morning for a reserve midshipmen cruise to Europe, turned about and headed for Norfolk with the survivors and the bodies. There was no immediate word on the condition of the survivors.

70,000 Enemy Troops Crack U.N. Battleline

One ROK Division Overrun, 3 Others Fighting For Lives

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 14 (AP)—The Chinese Communists in their greatest offensive in two years hurled possibly 70,000 troops against 18 miles of the East-Central Korean Front today and forced at least one South Korean division to retreat.

The size and violence of the Red onslaught—a throwback to the old war of movement halted by two years of truce talks—threatened to breach a major gap in the Allied battle line.

Censorship prohibited disclosure of the extent of the Red gain.

"There were simply too many of them for us to stop," a U. S. adviser with the stricken South Korean division said. "They overran some of our people and some of them got behind us."

Aimed At Flattening Bulge

Three other South Korean divisions were fighting for their lives across a mountainous sector from Kumhwa east to the Pukhad River.

No American divisions were under attack.

Front-line officers reported the situation was serious.

The Chinese drive apparently was aimed at flattening the "Kumsong bulge" which has thrust into Red lines since Gen. James A. Van Fleet hammered it out in his last big offensive in the fall of 1951.

A spokesman for the stricken Republic of Korea division insisted it still was in control of its sector of the front running northeast of bloody Sniper Ridge. Sniper itself was just out of action to the west.

Fighting was savage and hand-to-hand at many points.

ROKs Counter-Attack

The South Korean division that bore the heaviest weight of the onslaught and was forced to pull back was a crack, battle-tested outfit. Its job was guarding the critical Kumwha Road network leading in all directions into South Korea.

Time and again the rugged ROKs counter-attacked recklessly in a massive effort to roll back the attacking Chinese waves. Thunderous Red artillery barrages crashed against the deep-dug South Korean lines.

Farther east the attack was somewhat lighter but heavy enough to be termed serious everywhere.

"We are counter-attacking everywhere," the other South Korean divisions reported.

A dawn rain dimmed hope that could help slow the onslaught.

Allied Line Infiltrated

At one point the Communists managed to shove infiltrators into a rear area but there was no indication how deep the break had been.

"We have some enemy — not many — in our rear," one U. S. officer reported. He was an advisor to South Korean troops.

Northeast of Sniper Ridge, on the Central Front where the main Red blows were falling in an unceasing attack, some Allied positions were reported lost by 5 a.m. today (3 p.m. Monday, EST).

Counter-attacking South Koreans managed to regain some of the lost ground.

"Along the fighting front itself the situation is very confused at this time," another U. S. officer said.

Appeal To President

Trapped Yanks Evacuated By New Armored Vehicles

WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Tuesday, July 14 (AP)—The Army lifted secrecy today on how it evacuated U. S. 7th Division soldiers safely in daylight along a perilous dirt road winding south from abandoned Porkchop Hill under heavy Communist shelling.

A division of Chinese artillery had the road zeroed in on its gunsights and it was considered a virtual highway of death.

The Army said the feat was accomplished by use of America's newest armored personnel carrier —the T18—for the first time in battle.

The full-tracked vehicles, sheathed and roofed with tough armor plate, brought back wounded and sound soldiers—and some of the dead—left on Porkchop in the last hours of the gallant U. S. stand.

The armored vehicles rumbled up to the hill's remaining defenders in daylight, under direct view and fire from the Communists.

Mortar shells, artillery rounds, machine - gun and rifle bullets pounded the carriers in this first trial under heavy fire. Only one vehicle was seriously damaged.

"The evacuation proceeded without casualties," the 7th U. S. Division announced.

Their engines growling at full power, the carriers backed up to caves and bunkers to load on the Americans.

The carriers returned to Porkchop with engineer teams that blasted bunkers and caves before the Chinese could occupy them. The carriers hold about 25 men, but the number employed in the operation is security information.

Move To Shelve Mail Rate Hike Plan Fails

House Committee Row Touched Off

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's move to raise postal rates this year touched off a shouting, arm-waving uproar in the House Post Office Committee today.

When the d ustsettled, the committee turned down by an 11 to 10 vote a proposal to shelve the rate increase request until next year. This meant public hearings will continue, though it's doubtful whether any further action will be taken before Congress adjourns around the end of this month.

Postmaster General Summerfield went before the committee to argue for the higher rates endorsed by President Eisenhower—four cents instead of three for a first class letter, with other increases in postage for air mail, books, newspapers and periodicals.

But Summerfield was hardly seated in the witness chair before the yelling began.

Rep. Hagen (R-Minn) started it with a quick motion that the committee forget about Summerfield and hold a closed session.

Chairman Rees (R-Kan) refused to recognize him and Hagen protested.

After 20 minutes of confusion Summerfield got to tell his story.

He said the postal deficit since 1945 amounts to an "astronomical" $3,800,000,000. The budget left by the Truman administration for the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, he said, would leave the Post Office Department another 746 millions in the red.

Summerfield said that through economies he has pared this down to 315 millions. The proposed increase, he said, would bring in an extra $250,625,000 and bring the department's books within reach of a "realistic balance."

N. Y. Transit Fare, Once Nickel, Goes To Three

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—The city transit fare—one of the wonders of New York during the nickel ride era— soon will cost three times that much.

The City Transit Authority today raised the charge to 15 cents a ride, beginning July 25, on all city owned subways, buses and elevated lines.

It is the latest step in a long series of fare boosts during the past five years designed to put municipal transit facilities on a paying basis.

Territory Draft Dates Are Fixed

CINCINNATI,J uly 13 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said the major leagues, acting in joint session tonight, adopted a rule which prohibits drafting of territory except from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1.

This eliminates the possibility of the St. Louis Browns' or any other franchise being moved except during that period.

The Executive Council had passed such a resolution in Florida excepting the two franchise moves then under consideration, last spring, but today's action by the majors puts it in the rule book.

West Va. Wins Mining Dispute

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 13 (AP)—A temporary injunction granted by a Randolph County judge today gave the state a first-round victory in its attempt to prevent strip mining on conservation property.

Judge Stanley Bosworth issued the injunction against D. S. Blount of Roanoke, Va., operator of the Cavalier Peerless Coal Co. Blount had notified the State Conservation Commission that he intended to begin stripping operations today in Kumbrabow State Forest.

The injunction sustained the state's contention that a deed to mineral rights to some 300,000 tons of Peerless seam coal underlying the forest could not be removed through strip mining.

Blount's attorneys, Myron Hymes and Gilbert E. Koontz of Buchannon, said language in the deed was broad enough to permit strip mining. They said the coal cannot be removed by any other method.

W. Holt Wooddell of Elkins, special counsel for the conservation commission, said the deed owned by Lewis Wuchner and heirs of the late Alex Ewing was not intended for strip mining purposes. The state also was represented by W. Bryan Spillers, assistant attorney general.

Negro Pitcher Sues Cotton States League

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 13 (INS)—Pitcher Jim Tugerson today filed a $50,000 damage suit against members of the Class C Cotton States League charging them with racial discrimination.

Tugerson's suit, filed in U. S. District Court in Hot Springs, accused league members of refusing to allow him to pitch for the Hot Springs club because he is a negro.

Tugerson was suppose to have pitched for Hot Springs this year but was optioned to the Class D Knoxville Club of Mountain States League when protests were lodged by other Cotton League clubs.

Kremlin Policy Unchanged, World Communism Is Told

VIENNA, July 13 (AP) — The Cominform indicated today the Kremlin's foreign policy is unchanged by the fall of Lavrenty Beria and that the Soviet Union's immediate aims are threefold:

A unified Germany, American withdrawal from Japan and admission of Red China to the United Nations.

The Cominform is the Communist information bureau. The latest issue of its weekly policy publica-1ction to reach Vienna instructed world Communist parties to launch an all-out propaganda campaign to convince people of "the consistent peace policy of the Soviet government."

Western diplomats here said the editorial appeared to have been written after Beria's arrest in Moscow, and probaby had Kremlin approval. They regarded this as confirmation of other developments they believe show that Russia's "peace offensive" is still on.

The Cominform journal told Communists to press for the "historically important" program of the Communist-run World Peace Council — the main propaganda instrument of the Kremlin's "peace" policy.

High in this program are these Communist demands:

1. German reunification "with the proviso that Germany respects the security of its neighbors and prevents the revival of militarism and revanchism."

2. "The right of the Japanese people to national sovereignty on the basis of a peace treaty recognized by all countries concerned"—interpreted here as a drive to force United States troops out.

3. The admission of Communist China "and all other nations" to the U. N.

Fiery Southern Spirit Must Be Cooling Off

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 13 (AP) — That fiery "The South will rise again" spirit must be cooling around these parts of the old Confederacy.

This is the 131st anniversary of the birth of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, the rough and ready cavalry genius of the Civil War. But you'd hardly know it.

Time was when Forrest's birthday was a holiday. Banks and other businesses closed. There were big doings in Forrest Park here, where the general was buried.

Only last year, descendants of the general and his troopers, 300 strong, gathered for a solemn memorial service.

Today, for the first time, nothing at all was planned for Forrest's birthday.

But that doesn't mean (Git Thar Fustest with the Mostest) Forrest is forgotten. He's sure to be remembered as long as history and military tactics are studied.

Cop Gunning For '3-Toed Monster'

NEW HAMBURG, Ont., July 13 (AP)—Police Chief George Thomas vows he will "fill that three-toed monster full of lead" the next time it leaves the swamp to go courting.

And that can't be too soon for New Hamburg's 1,800 residents.

Thomas said the mysterious beast, which has given New Hamburgers the jitters for the past few weeks, gets the urge to mate every so often.

"That's when I'll get him," he declared.

Thomas admitted he was not quite sure what kind of animal he was dealing with, but he is convinced he has stumbled on to something "not natural to this part of the country."

The hunt has been going on since Thomas took a shot at the beast along the banks of the Nith River recently. He said it was about 2½ feet long, some 6 inches in circumference and had a long body and tail. The tracks were about 7 inches wide and had three distinct claw marks.

"This thing is not a bird," Thomas said. "The animal has been seen often for the last two years. It's always seen around the same time of year and that is why I think it is answering the urge to mate, to prowl around at night."

The chief had no answer to one question: What would the "three-toed monster" mate with?

Fiery Southern Spirit Must Be Cooling Off

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 13 (AP) — That fiery "The South will rise again" spirit must be cooling around these parts of the old Confederacy.

This is the 131st anniversary of the birth of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, the rough and ready cavalry genius of the Civil War. But you'd hardly know it.

Time was when Forrest's birthday was a holiday. Banks and other businesses closed. There were big doings in Forrest Park here, where the general was buried.

Only last year, descendants of the general and his troopers, 300 strong, gathered for a solemn memorial service.

Today, for the first time, nothing at all was planned for Forrest's birthday.

But that doesn't mean (Git Thar Fustest with the Mostest) Forrest is forgotten. He's sure to be remembered as long as history and military tactics are studied.

ST. JOSEPH ASPIRIN FOR CHILDREN

Cop Gunning For '3-Toed Monster'

NEW HAMBURG, Ont., July 13 (AP)—Police Chief George Thomas vows he will "fill that three-toed monster full of lead" the next time it leaves the swamp to go courting.

And that can't be too soon for New Hamburg's 1,800 residents.

Thomas said the mysterious beast, which has given New Hamburgers the jitters for the past few weeks, gets the urge to mate every so often.

"That's when I'll get him," he declared.

Thomas admitted he was not quite sure what kind of animal he was dealing with, but he is convinced he has stumbled on to something "not natural to this part of the country."

The hunt has been going on since Thomas took a shot at the beast along the banks of the Nith River recently. He said it was about 2½ feet long, some 6 inches in circumference and had a long body and tail. The tracks were about 7 inches wide and had three distinct claw marks.

"This thing is not a bird," Thomas said. "The animal has been seen often for the last two years. It's always seen around the same time of year and that is why I think it is answering the urge to mate, to prowl around at night."

The chief had no answer to one question: What would the "three-toed monster" mate with?

In its native forests, mahogany trees sometimes grow to sizes of 150 feet in height.

Baltimore Supreme Bench Upholds Slash In Bank Tax

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Baltimore's circuit court judges ruled today there is nothing wrong with a new law the General Assembly passed last winter reducing the state tax on mutual savings banks.

The bill was a storm center near the end of the legislative session in April. It became even more so when it was revealed the eight mutual savings banks in the state had paid a $30,000 lobbying fee to get it through.

Baltimore's city government and Hyman Pressman, Baltimore attorney who filed suit as an individual taxpayer, contended the act the legislature passed was ambiguous and faulty.

Judge Joseph R. Byrnes, a former state Senate president who wrote the opinion for the Baltimore Supreme Bench, said a better job could have been done when it was drafted but its deficiencies were not so great as to make it invalid.

The ruling may be taken to the Court of Appeals in Annapolis.

The city government opposed the bill because it will cut about $400,000 from Baltimore's tax revenues in the next five years.

Woman Cab Driver's Attacker Sentenced

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)-Lorenz J. Gam, 36, of Milwaukee today was sentenced to 20 years in prison for an attack upon a woman cab driver.

Judge James K. Cullen imposed the sentence after suggesting the police and cab companies ought to agree on an arrangement that would keep women drivers off the streets late at night.

The woman cabbie, mother of two, testified Gam ordered her on a long round-trip to a suburb and on the way back held a penknife to her throat and stripped off part of her clothing.

She pulled up alongside a police prowl car and screamed.

Panic In Rail Tunnel

ROME, July 13 (AP)—A small fire stalled an electric train in a tunnel near here today and caused panic among its passengers. One woman was seriously injured and several others were bruised in the stampede that followed.

PTA Approves Plan To Curb Delinquency

COLLEGE PARK, July 13 (AP) — Delegates to the annual summer conference of Maryland's Congress of Parents and Teachers today got a four-point program for combatting juvenile delinquency.

It was proposed by Bertram Beck, head of a juvenile delinquency project in the U. S. Children's Bureau, who suggested:

1. Stronger family life.
2. Spiritual development.
3. Economic security.
4. More recreation facilities.

Beck was a principal speaker at the opening session of the three-day conference, which drew leaders from about 400 local PTA units throughout the state.

Baltimore's Traffic Czar To Be Sworn In

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP)—Henry A. Barnes, who won a national reputation as Denver's traffic doctor, came here today to take on his new job of unclogging Baltimore's arteries.

Barnes will be sworn in tomorrow as the city's traffic czar.

Baltimore hired Barnes away from Denver for $18,000 a year to start what is expected to be a four-year assault on the city's traffic tangle.

GIBRALTA, July 13 (AP) — The U. S. consulate at Gibraltar will close down soon for economy reasons, reliable sources said today. The consulate was opened in July, 1816.

Gas Tank Blast Rocks Md. Town

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., July 13 (AP)—A big gasoline storage tank blew up today just as workers were preparing to clean it.

One man was treated on the scene for burns. Three others escaped unhurt as the tank went up with a roar, sending flames 100 feet into the air and rocking this little Baltimore County community.

The blast broke windows half a mile away, hurled one section of the tank against the side of a nearby motor company building and send a 200-pound section sailing a half-mile.

The blast was on the property of A. N. Gerber in one of five tanks maintained by the Sherwood Brothers Inc., fuel distributors. Gerbert said he felt the blast a mile away.

Traffic had to be rerouted off York road.

Firemen and workmen said a drain pump had been attached to the tank to remove about 300 gallons of gasoline in the 20,000-gallon tank. They speculated a spark from the pump touched off vapors that brought the blast and fire.

Firemen from five communities kept the flames from spreading to the four other tanks.

Couple Sues Bank, Charging $10,000 Safety Box Theft

BALTIMORE, July 13 (AP) — A Baltimore couple filed a $50,000 damage suit against the Union Trust Co. today, charging $10,000, had disappeared from their safety deposit box at one of the bank's branches.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Bruns said in their bill of complaint they rented the safety box last fall for $10 a year, putting $4,000 in it Nov. 6 and another $6,000 Feb. 16.

Bruns said he returned to the vault June 15 and "was astonished to discover the container in which said money was kept had been removed by someone unauthorized and unknown."

More than 6,000 persons in the United States die from burns each year.

Hagerstown To Use More River Water

HAGERSTOWN, July 13 (AP) — Hagerstown residents are going to have to drink more water from the Potomac River and less of that sparkling stuff from the mountains.

Hagerstown's two principal water supplies are the river and mountain springs and streams. But city officials say the city has been using about 7-million gallons of water a day for the last couple of weeks. And it has been taking more water out of the mountain reservoir than nature is putting back because of a dry spell.

The upshot: the take from the mountain reserve will be cut from 2½ million gallons a day to 1½ million. The take from the river will be stepped up accordingly.

To Hang Or Not To Hang

Ironically, the possibility that a Briton was hanged unjustly in 1950 could today save the life, at least temporarily, of the man who was the principal witness against him. John Christie, convicted murderer of his wife, has admitted murdering seven other women, among them the wife of Timothy John Evans. Evans was hanged three years ago for the murder of his infant daughter. Evans, then a neighbor of Christie, was accused also of the murder of his wife but not tried for that.

The strong possibility that Christie was guilty of both killings of which Evans was accused has aroused disquiet in Britain, where feeling against capital punishment always runs high. In 1948 the House of Commons voted to suspend the death sentence for five years. The House of Lords rejected the suspension; rejection stood when the Labor government fell.

In the House of Commons debate in 1948, Sir John Anderson, for 10 years permanent head of the Home Office, said:

"It is fair to say, and there was a wealth of testimony to that effect in the evidence before the select committee, that the risk, under the conditions as they exist in this country, of the capital penalty being executed on any one who was not in fact guilty of the crime of which he had been convicted is so small, indeed so infinitesimal, that that consideration can be dismissed."

According to Professor Pollak of the University of Pennsylvania, "The fact of irrevocability has always been among the arguments for the abolition of the death penalty." This argument was brought up by non-Communist front groups opposing the recent execution in this country of the Rosenbergs, convicted atomic spies. Professor Pollak, who opposes the death penalty, observes that, "Apparently very few opponents of the abolition of capital punishment have had the courage to say: Yes, errors of judgment have led to the execution of innocent persons and may do so in the future, but this is a necessary item of social cost."

The Rosenbergs were convicted of a wartime offense against the Espionage Act of 1917, which prescribes a maximum penalty of death. The last-ditch attempt to save them was based on the argument, which the Supreme Court rejected, that the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 in effect superseded the 1917 act, as applied to the Rosenbergs. The 1946 act authorizes the death penalty only on a finding that the offense was committed with intent to injure the United States and upon a jury recommendation.

The majority opinion pointed out that the 1946 act was harsher than the Espionage Act in that "the death penalty may be imposed for peacetime offenses as well." Under the federal criminal code, the death penalty may be imposed also for murder (mandatory unless the jury stipulates "without capital punishment"), kidnapping (in certain circumstances, and if the jury so recommends), and treason.

Only six states (Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Wisconsin) and Puerto Rico have outlawed the death penalty for murder, and some of these allow it for treason or murderous assault by a life-term prisoner. The federal method of execution is electrocution except in territories (hanging); more than half the states use electrocution. Most of the rest prescribe hanging, though eight states have gone over to lethal gas.

Sun-Up

We mortals who deem ourselves civilized, carelessly and callously, day in and day out, miss the most superb show on earth—the sunrise. Time was, and it was not so long ago, when mankind marked well both sunrise and sunset. That was when a man's work was from sun-up to sun-down.

Many now living have seen men and their teams in slow motion across the fields long before light and have listened to the whirr and the clatter of their moving machine coming from the dim ends of the same fields long after dark.

In our state of habitual indifference to this great mystery of nature, the scattered occasions when we have been up with the sun are vivid tablets in the storehouse of the memory. For our part when watching the rise we will choose a high bluff looking eastward out to sea. Just as the greater beauty of a sunset is revealed in the glory of the after-glow, so in reverse the mysterious promise of the light that is to come, that some falsely call the false down, is the greater beauty of the sunrise.

Then it is as the earth rolls eastward on its axis that the horizon where sky meets sea is edged with light that grows, broadens, deepens, and extends upward with one's watching. Suddenly this thus enlightened canopy is filled with color. The fillets of the mackerel sky are tinged with shades of pink that glow and fade and glow again.

Below familiar contours of marsh, beach, rock, sea and island begin to emerge. Then for a matter of long and memorable moments, colors as if reflected from some vast hidden kaleidoscope, pass and repass over this silent scene. The beach goes from one shade of brown to another. The rocks are now dun, now gray, and now black. The sea is a vast panoply wherein a spectrum of shifting color forms and reforms as one watched—slate blue, dark green, rich purple, each to merge with the other.

Now the horizon glows with gold. The moment is at hand. A slice of yellow light emerges out of the sea. The sun is us.

This miracle transpires in a deep and unbroken silence. Even the sea seems stilled for this moment of dawn. Except for murmurs in the air of the ancient phrases of the classics—of the rosy fingered dawn and a wine colored sea.

Unfair Competition

Reminiscent of the days long before Pearl Harbor are news stories from Washington to the effect that American manufacturers are worried about Japanese imports which are flooding U. S. markets. The main gripe is that Japanese manufacturers appropriate U. S. brand names and distribute them around willy-nilly—naming a sewing machine a Cadillac, for instance.

To date, manufacturers have had little assistance from the Federal Trade Commission, to which they are appealing. The FTC found in one case that the use of the name "Royal" on a sewing machine does not lead people to believe the machine is made by the typewriter company. In some cases the label, "made in Japan," was concealed by the woodwork.

Nightmares And Other Sleep Disorders

To "sleep like a baby" is not all it is cracked up to be. Most infants are irregular and restless sleepers. Some are crib cruisers; others, head shakers, rockers, or twitchers. They travel all over the crib and often are found in the most bizarre and weird positions. There is no need to worry provided they obtain the amount of sleep needed to grow, develop, and maintain a good disposition. Should these antics interfere with sleep the baby may be hungry or have pain, itching, or local irritation. As with adults, disturbed sleep may stem from unusual noises, undue excitement, extreme fatigue, poor ventilation, or too much light. These factors are taken into consideration when seeking a remedy:

Children also dream, especially those who are emotionally upset, restless, or under mental strain. Most of us have gone through these experiences, which rarely last more than a minute. Dreams are said to have psychologic importance in that they mirror the activities of the day. Nightmares are more disturbing and are prone to plague the nervous child or those in ill health. Boys and girls between 3 and 8 usually are bothered most. The dream is so terrifying it awakens the youngster, who is bewildered and confused for a short time thereafter.

The night terror is worse. An hour or two after going to bed the tot awakens suddenly, sits up in bed, and begins to scream and tremble with fear. Some are found sitting on the edge of the bed or on the floor, pointing their finger at an imaginary object that scared them. They may or may not become conscious, and some cry for a moment or two and then fall asleep. Day terrors are not unlike those that come on at night except that they take place in a nap or occasionally while daydreaming. The importance of this condition lies in its similarity to epilepsy, hysteria, and other mental or nervous diseases. It is advisable to watch the youngster carefully to determine whether violent screaming is part of a fit, or convulsive seizure. Sleepwalking is an enacted dream and has a tendency to occur with older children. Actual walking is not necessary; some perform various systematic acts without getting out of bed. Those who do walk should be protected against falling or otherwise hurting themselves.

When sleep disturbances occur with frequency, it is time to look into the habits of the child not only at home but in school and on the playground. All too often there is need for improvement in the relationship between the child and his parents, playmates, brothers, and sisters. We are prone to blame the radio and television for many of these episodes but bad dreams were common long before these instruments were invented.

Many youngsters also suffer from insomnia, particularly during certain periods of life. It is well to remember that the child cannot be made to go to sleep. More can be done to establish the sleep habit through reassurance and calmness. When insomnia plagues older boys and girls, the parents ought to be on the alert for mental overstimulation from radio, motion pictures, television, or school work.. Children are individuals and react to the same emotional excitement as do adults.

L. S. writes: How long after exposure to the flu will the exposed person get sick?

REPLY

The incubation period of influenza is short: from 24 to 48 hours. Not all who are exposed to the infection develop it, however.

LUNG CANCER

S. D. writes: Is the cause of lung cancer known?

REPLY

No, although many physicians are convinced that the irritation resulting from the inhalation of tobacco smoke, gases, or fumes is responsible.

HE KNOWS

R. G. S. writes: Some one asks you if alcoholism is curable, and I thought you would like to hear from one who has been dry for 2½ years. Cure is possible, but there must be an honest effort and help from Almighty God. No one can be cured unless he wants to be, and the road is a long, hard one. I didn't make it on the first three attempts, but I am now on the wagon and healthy and happy. The alcoholic is given too much sympathy; he goes around crying that he needs help. There is no medicine to cure and no doctor or any one else can understand the tricky ways of an alcoholic except a brother drunk. Once he looks the bottle in the face and becomes determined that liquor is not going to ruin him, he has a good start. But he never can touch liquor again. I am still praying, not for cure but in thanksgiving for the help God gave me.

REPLY

I agree wholeheartedly that the alcoholic must want to stop drinking before he can quit successfully. And the help you sought is beyond comparison.

Big Four Conference Won't Be Held; Foreign Ministers Worry Over Jitteriness In Kremlin; Beria Was Almost Liquidated Before Stalin's Death.

WASHINGTON — MOSCOW AFTERMATHS — Big Three Foreign Ministers meeting in Washington have done more talking about probable results of Beria's exit from the Kremlin than anything else. . . . One certain result is: "A Big Four conference is out the window." Churchill was its chief backer and now Churchill may shortly retire as prime minister. . . . Entirely aside from this, the Big Three Foreign Ministers don't want to give the stamp of approval to Malenkov by meeting with him at this time. Such a meeting would build him up in Russian eyes, make him more powerful in the Kremlin. . . . Our hope is for more division in the Kremlin, not build-ups. . . . Malenkov obviously wanted the meeting with Ike and Churchill in the worst way. His ambassador to Sweden urged the Swedish Foreign Office to promote the meeting this summer—in Stockholm. . . . Ambassador Malik in London also called on Churchill to urge a meeting this summer. . . . Other Moscow aftermaths: More trouble is expected in the Kremlin. However, no real collapse of Russia is likely. . . . Some of Beria's friends are bound to flee the iron curtain; should give us a better chance to find out the real truth. . . . Two big alternatives worry Allied diplomats: 1. will the Russians be so busy disagreeing that tension with the West will ease up?; or 2. will Malenkov be so jittery that he'll precipitate war? None of the experts knows the answer.

RUSSIAN BLOOD—Over Stalin's bier, Marshal Beria declared: "Our enemies think our loss will bring disorder in our ranks. They will be disappointed.". . . . Beria obviously knew better because he was almost liquidated before Stalin died. He and Premier Malenkov have had a running feud for years. So have some of the other Kremlin leaders. . . . Malenkov is half Russian, half Tartar. Beria is a Georgian. He comes from the same Soviet republic as Stalin. Nikolai Bulganin is the only pure Russian among the top leaders of the Kremlin. . . . Malenkov came to the Kremlin in 1925 as Stalin's private secretary. He was recommended to old Joe by Molotov and Kaganovich, now deputy premier and only Jewish member of the top command. However, Malenkov didn't hesitate to turn against his sponsors when they put their relatives on the Soviet payroll. He raised cain because Molotov's wife, Polina, held a government job, and because Kaganovich's two brothers and a woman relative also fed at the Soviet trough. When Malenkov made a public speech denouncing them, the relatives were fired and Molotov made a public confession accusing himself of evil in not preventing his wife from holding high office. . . . On another occasion, Premier Malenkov almost came to blows with Marshal Zhukov (Eisenhower's friend in Berlin). The row took place in Stalin's villa at Sochi on the Black Sea. Stalin personally separated them. . . . After this Zhukov was banished from Berlin and given an obscure command in Odessa. Zhukov's friendship with Eisenhower was played up in the Western press as the reason for this semi-exile, but it was probably Malenkov's jealousy.

RIVAL ARMIES—In Russia the secret police has long been almost as powerful as the army. This was true under the czar and is even more true under the Communists. The secret police, until last week headed by Beria, has its own tank divisions, modern weapons. The Red army doesn't like the MVD, not merely because of competition but because the secret police has the power to arrest generals, officers, enlisted men, sometimes executes them without trial. . . . In the hot and bitter rivalry between Beria and Malenkov, it was obvious that the man who controlled the Red army would win. . . . The Red army has now backed Malenkov. . . . At first, after Stalin died, it looked as if Beria might win out. For on March 21, two weeks after Stalin's death, Malenkov lost control of the Communist party. . . . Shortly thereafter Beria fired top Communist officials in the key countries of the Baltic, the Ukraine and the Caucasus. About a year before, he had been forced to purge some of his own friends in Georgia, men he had known in his youth and whom he had appointed to office. The purge was forced on him by Malenkov and Stalin. . . . But after Stalin's death he got revenge and kicked Malenkov's friends out of their jobs in these key areas. . . . But from Malenkov's mother, who was a Tartar, the premier inherited ruthlessness and cunning. From his father, who was Russian, he inherited forbearance and calculation. It is now obvious that Malenkov waited, probably buttered up Marshal Bulganin, who controls the Red army, Marshal Zhukov, with whom he once rowed, and using his long experience as a chess player, played them off against Beria, whom he hated.

EAST GERMAN TRIGGER—No one will know definitely for a long time what finally tipped the scales against Beria. But probably it was the East German riots plus the bog-down of Russian atomic energy. Beria was in charge of the A-bomb program, was responsible for policing East Germany, Czechoslovakia, the satellites. . . . When the uranium mines got flooded and Czech - German workers staged riots and strikes, it played into Malenkov's hands, undoubtedly gave him the excuse he had been waiting for. . . . Malenkov also had the use of the top branch of the secret police, the Shmersh. This is the super-duper outfit which spies even on members of the Politburo and supersedes Beria's own secret police. . . . For some weeks prior to Stalin's death, Malenkov was fabricating Shmersh evidence in order to liquidate Beria, while Beria was fabricating secret police evidence in order to liquidate Malenkov. . . . Prior to January 1953, Stalin had protected his fellow Georgian, Beria, from Malenkov. But two months before he died, he switched over to Malenkov's side. This was during the sordid, bloody, much confused haggle over the Soviet doctors who were prosecuted for secretly poisoning high officials. . . . Unquestionably, their poisoning was done on orders. Dr. Levin, one of the most reputed Kremlin doctors, had been accused in 1937 of having murdered Maxim Gorky—on order of secret police Chief Yagoda. . . . In January 1953, nine Kremlin doctors were accused of the medical murder of Andrei Zhdanov and General Alexander Shcherbakov. Beria was blamed by Malenkov for the murder. . . . But later Beria attempted to turn this against Malenkov, announced that the doctors had been falsely accused, and it became known that they were acting under orders. . . . All of this adds up to the fact that Bolshvism thrives on blood. In fact even before communism, the czars seldom died a natural death. Dora Kaplan's bullet hastened Lenin's death; Stalin's pick-ax treachery in Mexico finally reached Trotsky; Zinoviev, Kamenev, Radek, Bucharin, Rykov, all intimates of Lenin, received a bullet in the nape of the neck. . . . Nice country! . . . Let's be grateful we live in the U. S. A.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Here is a story that has in it factual evidence that has not been printed before so in the interest of justice to a man who last week lost his job in the government without a hearing it ought to be told.

First of all, here is the accurate text of two sentences which should have been included in every news dispatch written from Washington last week purporting to describe the controversy concerning some Protestant clergymen and the Communist-inspired propaganda campaigns in America. But the text of these two sentences were generally omitted. They read thus:

"It hardly needs to be said that the vast majority of American Protestant clergymen are loyal to the free institutions of this country, as well as loyal to their solemn trust as ministers of the gospel. In a sense, this overwhelming majority is embarrassed by the participation of the minority in the activities of the most sinsiter conspiracy in the history of the world."

Involves Three Per Cent

The foregoing declaration was made by J. B. Matthews—formerly a Protestant clergyman and missionary—prior to the time he was employed as a staff investigator by the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations headed by Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin. It was published in the "American Mercury" magazine which appeared on the newstands the middle of last month. It was available to the press and to the White House and to Congress and to the three prominent ministers who last week telegraphed to President Eisenhower about the matter. But on what did they focus their attention? They concentrated on the following sentence in the Matthews article:

"The largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

A few sentences further down in the same article as published, Mr. Matthews wrote that during the last 17 years, the Communist party "has enlisted the support of at least 7,000 Protestant clergymen in the same categories — party members, fellow travelers, espionage agents, party line adherents, and unwitting dupes."

Now, according to the latest available church statistics, there are aproximately 250,000 ordained clergymen in the United States in Protestant faiths. So 7,000 would be less than three per cent. Mr. Matthews regrettably didn't say how many were "unwitting dupes" and how many were in the other categories. But anyway, less than three per cent of the total number of Protestant clergymen in America is a relatively small group. It is important to note these figures because of the nation-wide notor-

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

No Surrender Now

WASHINGTON

The fall of Lavrenti Beria may shake the world; but American domestic politics are rather more likely to be shaken by a quite different event. President Eisenhower has at last opened hostilities against Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

The decisive engagement will be the case of William Bundy, the able official of the Central Intelligence Agency who is McCarthy's newest target. The President shows every sign of the firmest purpose to oppose McCarthy on Bundy, even refusing to permit Bundy to respond to McCarthy's subpoena.

If Eisenhower does not surrender in this Bundy case, McCarthy will have a hard choice. He will have to choose between accepting public defeat, or unmasking his real purposes by publicly attacking the President himself. This can be, and may well be, the final turning point.

The real opening of hostilities, however, was the President's incisive statement denouncing the slander of the Protestant clergy by McCarthy's pet investigator, J. B. Matthews. The real interest of this statement lies in a vital background fact. The White House actively sought the opportunity, indeed created the opportunity, to strike this hard blow at the Wisconsin senator.

It is an old story, now, how Matthews charged that 7,000 Protestant clergymen were secrets agents of Moscow, and how the members of McCarthy's committee therefore protested Matthew's appointment as head of the committee staff. But how the White House seized upon the Matthews issue is not an old story.

Nixon Also Approved

The President's chief of staff, former Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, was the man who decided that Matthews offered the long-awaited "really good issue" on which the President could take his stand against McCarthy.

Inevitably, Adams was opposed by the President's amiable but appeasement-minded legislative liaison officer, Major General Wilton B. Persons. But the President, who has followed the advice of Persons, this time decided the matter in favor of Adams. It is understood that Vice President Richard Nixon also gave his approval.

Rather cleverly, the White House then took steps to stimulate a telegram denouncing Matthews from three leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths, Monsignor John A. O'Brien, the Rev. John Sutherland Bonnell and Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath. This was to give the President a reason to speak. Before the planned answer to the invited telegram could be published, the Vice President hurriedly warned that Matthews was about to be dropped by McCarthy. The only White House reaction was to give the press the President's fine statement without further delay. In short, the intention to strike at McCarthy was abundantly clear.

Meanwhile, the desire to create a diversion drove Senator McCarthy to his attack on Bundy. Bundy, who comes of a distinguished Massachusetts Republican family, is Dean Acheson's son-in-law. As an acquaintance of Alger Hiss, he gave $400 to the Hiss defense fund, so that the wrong doer might be fairly tried. The only crimes charged against Bundy are his marriage to one of the most beautiful women in Washington, and his adherence to the American tradition that every man has a right to a fair trial. To answer to these crimes, Bundy was subpoenaed by McCarthy.

Eisenhower Promised Support

The significance of the Bundy case again lies in the background. Some time ago, McCarthy arrogantly presented Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, with a list of ten alleged "security risks," whom he "ordered" Dulles to dismiss from the CIA. Six of these men, as it turned out, were not in the CIA's employ. Of the other three, a typical representative was the almost excessively respectable Robert H. Thayer, son-in-law of former Representative Ruth B. Pratt of New York. Dulles ignored McCarthy's order and went to Eisenhower.

Dulles told Eisenhower that no intelligence agency could possibly continue to operate effectively if its employes were subject to congressional inquisition. He pointed out the impossibility of maintaining secrecy, of keeping "cover," of doing the intelligence job. He said that he would have to resign if the President could not protect the CIA from such investigators as McCarthy. Eisenhower then promised to support Dulles to the limit.

McCarthy was warned that the President had taken this position. Hence his attempt to subpoena Bundy was — and is — a frank and open challenge to the President. The matter was taken up in the National Security Council on Thursday. The decision was unanimously taken to order Bundy not to respond to the subpoena, under the doctrine of the separate powers of the legislative and executive branches.

McCarthy began his public attack on Bundy before Vice President Nixon could inform him of the Security Council's decision — which might have made him draw back. He has since tried, without result, to blackguard and bully Allen Dulles into submission. There is no question that the administration will yield on the Bundy subpoena. But the faint hearts in the White House are as usual urging "compromise" — in this case, the transfer of Bundy to a less sensitive job, which McCarthy would

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Symington

Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is handsome, charming, debonair and an artful politician. Successful as a business man, secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration, then regarded as a conservative because of his business connections as well as his antagonism to Acheson, he made as many friends among Republicans as Democrats. He married into a distinguished Republican family.

Usually, in his first year, a senator is silent on the assumption that he needs to learn how to be a senator. He is given unimportant and uninteresting committees. Symington managed, because of his reputation as a conservative, to get on good committees where he can catch the limelight that shines on few but is welcome to all. It is particularly on the McCarthy Committee that Symington seeks and sometimes holds the center of the stage. Perfectly photogenic, television serves him well.

This is important to him because the eye of experience is already discovering that Stuart Symington is getting himself in position to be the Democratic candidate for President in 1956.

The Democrats have few choices. They cannot renominate Harry Truman because he will be too old in 1956 and older by the end of that term in 1960. Besides, as an ex-President, Harry Truman has few opportunities to project himself before the public except as a defender of his disastrous policies. All that he can say is that President Eisenhower has been unable to abandon his policies, which Acheson formulated, and that therefore he must have been right. Someday, Eisenhower will pluck up enough courage to tell the details of the mess he inherited.

Adlai Stevenson is not likely to be renominated or want to be. The left wing of the Democratic party, of which he is a part, has been weakened by the defection of the South during the 1952 campaign and by the elimination of the big city bosses who were their allies. The strength of the Democratic party is still in the South.

Symington would therefore be a logical candidate if he could make himself better known to the people, particularly of the North. This he is trying to accomplish by being a liberal on the McCarthy Committee. Symington is too shrewd to tangle with McCarthy openly; it is all done in the manner of drawing-room politeness for the present. The incident over Dr. J. B. Matthews's article on the Protestant clergy gave Symington a chance for a test of strength which he did not push too far.

But the pattern is clear. Sooner or later, Symington and McCarthy will fight out an isssue over which public opinion is sharply divided and which will make or break Symington's candidacy.

Politicians of both parties are watching this situation closely because should the Democrats win the 1954 congressional election, the chairmanships of committees will change. The chairman of what is now called the McCarthy Committee will be John L. McClellan of Arkansas, an able senator, well versed in the affairs of this committee. However, if the Democrats are in the majority, Symington will be able to push harder than he can now, particularly in the interrogation of witnesses.

On the other hand, should such a situation arise, Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada will be restored as chairman of the Judiciary Committee which means politically that if Symington attempts to soft-pedal the current McCarthy hearings, the Judiciary Committee will find a way to continue them. No influences of any kind can be brought to bear on Senator McCarran who pursues his course come what may.

Stuart Symington is an anti-Communist and when he was appointed a member of the the Committee on Government Operations, it was assumed that he would be on McCarthy's side. But politics is politics, and Democrats are not Republicans, and where a man is a candidate for the Presidency, he becomes sensitive to every instrument that plays in the symphony of political activities. Symington is showing all the symptoms of having a keenly cultivated ear, capable of hearing every rustle of public opinion.

Curiously, many would prefer Symington as a Democratic candidate because of his extraordinary personal charm to oppose General Eisenhower whose principal asset is also charm. The Democrats believe that the Republicans are making a record which they can lick if they find the right man; the Republicans are growing increasingly conscious of the nature of the 1954 and 1956 campaigns.

The strong possibility that Christie was guilty of both killings of which Evans was accused has aroused disquiet in Britain, where feeling against capital punishment always runs high. In 1948 the House of Commons voted to suspend the death sentence for five years. The House of Lords rejected the suspension; rejection stood when the Labor government fell.

In the House of Commons debate in 1948, Sir John Anderson, for 10 years permanent head of the Home Office, said:

"It is fair to say, and there was a wealth of testimony to that effect in the evidence before the select committee, that the risk, under the conditions as they exist in this country, of the capital penalty being executed on any one who was not in fact guilty of the crime of which he had been convicted is so small, indeed so infinitesimal, that that consideration can be dismissed."

According to Professor Pollak of the University of Pennsylvania, "The fact of irrevocability has always been among the arguments for the abolition of the death penalty." This argument was brought up by non-Communist front groups opposing the recent execution in this country of the Rosenbergs, convicted atomic spies. Professor Pollak, who opposes the death penalty, observes that, "Apparently very few opponents of the abolition of capital punishment have had the courage to say: Yes, errors of judgment have led to the execution of innocent persons and may do so in the future, but this is a necessary item of social cost."

The Rosenbergs were convicted of a wartime offense against the Espionage Act of 1917, which prescribes a maximum penalty of death. The last-ditch attempt to save them was based on the argument, which the Supreme Court rejected, that the Atomic Energy Act of 1946 in effect superseded the 1917 act, as applied to the Rosenbergs. The 1946 act authorizes the death penalty only on a finding that the offense was committed with intent to injure the United States and upon a jury recommendation.

The majority opinion pointed out that the 1946 act was harsher than the Espionage Act in that "the death penalty may be imposed for peacetime offenses as well." Under the federal criminal code, the death penalty may be imposed also for murder (mandatory unless the jury stipulates "without capital punishment"), kidnapping (in certain circumstances, and if the jury so recommends), and treason.

Only six states (Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Wisconsin) and Puerto Rico have outlawed the death penalty for murder, and some of these allow it for treason or murderous assault by a life-term prisoner. The federal method of execution is electrocution except in territories (hanging); more than half the states use electrocution. Most of the rest prescribe hanging, though eight states have gone over to lethal gas.

Sun-Up

We mortals who deem ourselves civilized, carelessly and callously, day in and day out, miss the most superb show on earth—the sunrise. Time was, and it was not so long ago, when mankind marked well both sunrise and sunset. That was when a man's work was from sun-up to sun-down.

Many now living have seen men and their teams in slow motion across the fields long before light and have listened to the whirr and the clatter of their moving machine coming from the dim ends of the same fields long after dark.

In our state of habitual indifference to this great mystery of nature, the scattered occasions when we have been up with the sun are vivid tablets in the storehouse of the memory. For our part when watching the rise we will choose a high bluff looking eastward out to sea. Just as the greater beauty of a sunset is revealed in the glory of the after-glow, so in reverse the mysterious promise of the light that is to come, that some falsely call the false down, is the greater beauty of the sunrise,

Then it is as the earth rolls eastward on its axis that the horizon where sky meets sea is edged with light that grows, broadens, deepens, and extends upward with one's watching. Suddenly this thus enlightened canopy is filled with color. The fillets of the mackerel sky are tinged with shades of pink that glow and fade and glow again.

Below familiar contours of marsh, beach, rock, sea and island begin to emerge. Then for a matter of long and memorable moments, colors as if reflected from some vast hidden kaleidoscope, pass and repass over this silent scene. The beach goes from one shade of brown to another. The rocks are now dun, now gray, and now black. The sea is a vast panoply wherein a spectrum of shifting color forms and reforms as one watched—slate blue, dark green, rich purple, each to merge with the other.

Now the horizon glows with gold. The moment is at hand. A slice of yellow light emerges out of the sea. The sun is us.

This miracle transpires in a deep and unbroken silence. Even the sea seems stilled for this moment of dawn. Except for murmurs in the air of the ancient phrases of the classics—of the rosy fingered dawn and a wine colored sea.

Unfair Competition

Reminiscent of the days long before Pearl Harbor are news stories from Washington to the effect that American manufacturers are worried about Japanese imports which are flooding U. S. markets. The main gripe is that Japanese manufacturers appropriate U. S. brand names and distribute them around willy-nilly—naming a sewing machine a Cadillac, for instance.

To date, manufacturers have had little assistance from the Federal Trade Commission, to which they are appealing. The FTC found in one case that the use of the name "Royal" on a sewing machine does not lead people to believe the machine is made by the typewriter company. In some cases the label, "made in Japan," was concealed by the woodwork.

Nightmares And Other Sleep Disorders

To "sleep like a baby" is not all it is cracked up to be. Most infants are irregular and restless sleepers. Some are crib cruisers; others, head shakers, rockers, or twitchers. They travel all over the crib and often are found in the most bizarre and weird positions. There is no need to worry provided they obtain the amount of sleep needed to grow, develop, and maintain a good disposition. Should these antics interfere with sleep the baby may be hungry or have pain, itching, or local irritation. As with adults, disturbed sleep may stem from unusual noises, undue excitement, extreme fatigue, poor ventilation, or too much light. These factors are taken into consideration when seeking a remedy:

Children also dream, especially those who are emotionally upset, restless, or under mental strain. Most of us have gone through these experiences, which rarely last more than a minute. Dreams are said to have psychologic importance in that they mirror the activities of the day. Nightmares are more disturbing and are prone to plague the nervous child or those in ill health. Boys and girls between 3 and 8 usually are bothered most. The dream is so terrifying it awakens the youngster, who is bewildered and confused for a short time thereafter.

The night terror is worse. An hour or two after going to bed the tot awakens suddenly, sits up in bed, and begins to scream and tremble with fear. Some are found sitting on the edge of the bed or on the floor, pointing their finger at an imaginary object that scared them. They may or may not become conscious, and some cry for a moment or two and then fall asleep. Day terrors are not unlike those that come on at night except that they take place in a nap or occasionally while daydreaming. The importance of this condition lies in its similarity to epilepsy, hysteria, and other mental or nervous diseases. It is advisable to watch the youngster carefully to determine whether violent screaming is part of a fit, or convulsive seizure. Sleepwalking is an enacted dream and has a tendency to occur with older children. Actual walking is not necessary; some perform various systematic acts without getting out of bed. Those who do walk should be protected against falling or otherwise hurting themselves.

When sleep disturbances occur with frequency, it is time to look into the habits of the child not only at home but in school and on the playground. All too often there is need for improvement in the relationship between the child and his parents, playmates, brothers, and sisters. We are prone to blame the radio and television for many of these episodes but bad dreams were common long before these instruments were invented.

Many youngsters also suffer from insomnia, particularly during certain periods of life. It is well to remember that the child cannot be made to go to sleep. More can be done to establish the sleep habit through reassurance and calmness. When insomnia plagues older boys and girls, the parents ought to be on the alert for mental overstimulation from radio, motion pictures, television, or school work.. Children are individuals and react to the same emotional excitement as do adults.

QUICKIE

L. S. writes: How long after exposure to the flu will the exposed person get sick?

REPLY

The incubation period of influenza is short: from 24 to 48 hours. Not all who are exposed to the infection develop it, however.

LUNG CANCER

S. D. writes: Is the cause of lung cancer known?

REPLY

No, although many physicians are convinced that the irritation resulting from the inhalation of tobacco smoke, gases, or fumes is responsible.

HE KNOWS

R. G. S. writes: Some one asks you if alcoholism is curable, and I thought you would like to hear from one who has been dry for 2½ years. Cure is possible, but there must be an honest effort and help from Almighty God. No one can be cured unless he wants to be, and the road is a long, hard one. I didn't make it on the first three attempts, but I am now on the wagon and healthy and happy. The alcoholic is given too much sympathy; he goes around crying that he needs help. There is no medicine to cure and no doctor or any one else can understand the tricky ways of an alcoholic except a brother drunk. Once he looks the bottle in the face and becomes determined that liquor is not going to ruin him, he has a good start. But he never can touch liquor again. I am still praying, not for cure but in thanksgiving for the help God gave me.

REPLY

I agree wholeheartedly that the alcoholic must want to stop drinking before he can quit successfully. And the help you sought is beyond comparison.

Big Four Conference Won't Be Held; Foreign Ministers Worry Over Jitteriness In Kremlin; Beria Was Almost Liquidated Before Stalin's Death.

WASHINGTON — MOSCOW AFTERMATHS — Big Three Foreign Ministers meeting in Washington have done more talking about probable results of Beria's exit from the Kremlin than anything else. . . . One certain result is: "A Big Four conference is out the window." Churchill was its chief backer and now Churchill may shortly retire as prime minister. . . . Entirely aside from this, the Big Three Foreign Ministers don't want to give the stamp of approval to Malenkov by meeting with him at this time. Such a meeting would build him up in Russian eyes, make him more powerful in the Kremlin. . . . Our hope is for more division in the Kremlin, not build-ups. . . . Malenkov obviously wanted the meeting with Ike and Churchill in the worst way. His ambassador to Sweden urged the Swedish Foreign Office to promote the meeting this summer—in Stockholm. . . . Ambassador Malik in London also called on Churchill to urge a meeting this summer. . . . Other Moscow aftermaths: More trouble is expected in the Kremlin. However, no real collapse of Russia is likely. . . . Some of Beria's friends are bound to flee the iron curtain; should give us a better chance to find out the real truth. . . . Two big alternatives worry Allied diplomats: 1. will the Russians be so busy disagreeing that tension with the West will ease up?; or 2. will Malenkov be so jittery that he'll precipitate war? None of the experts knows the answer.

RUSSIAN BLOOD—Over Stalin's bier, Marshal Beria declared: "Our enemies think our loss will bring disorder in our ranks. They will be disappointed.". . . . Beria obviously knew better because he was almost liquidated before Stalin died. He and Premier Malenkov have had a running feud for years. So have some of the other Kremlin leaders. . . . Malenkov is half Russian, half Tartar. Beria is a Georgian. He comes from the same Soviet republic as Stalin. Nikolai Bulganin is the only pure Russian among the top leaders of the Kremlin. . . . Malenkov came to the Kremlin in 1925 as Stalin's private secretary. He was recommended to old Joe by Molotov and Kaganovich, now deputy premier and only Jewish member of the top command. However, Malenkov didn't hesitate to turn against his sponsors when they put their relatives on the Soviet payroll. He raised cain because Molotov's wife, Polina, held a government job, and because Kaganovich's two brothers and a woman relative also fed at the Soviet trough. When Malenkov made a public speech denouncing them, the relatives were fired and Molotov made a public confession accusing himself of evil in not preventing his wife from holding high office. . . . On another occasion, Premier Malenkov almost came to blows with Marshal Zhukov (Eisenhower's friend in Berlin). The row took place in Stalin's villa at Sochi on the Black Sea. Stalin personally separated them. . . . After this Zhukov was banished from Berlin and given an obscure command in Odessa. Zhukov's friendship with Eisenhower was played up in the Western press as the reason for this semi-exile, but it was probably Malenkov's jealousy.

RIVAL ARMIES—In Russia the secret police has long been almost as powerful as the army. This was true under the czar and is even more true under the Communists. The secret police, until last week headed by Beria, has its own tank divisions, modern weapons. The Red army doesn't like the MVD, not merely because of competition but because the secret police has the power to arrest generals, officers, enlisted men, sometimes executes them without trial. . . . In the hot and bitter rivalry between Beria and Malenkov, it was obvious that the man who controlled the Red army would win. . . . The Red army has now backed Malenkov. . . . At first, after Stalin died, it looked as if Beria might win out. For on March 21, two weeks after Stalin's death, Malenkov lost control of the Communist party. . . . Shortly thereafter Beria fired top Communist officials in the key countries of the Baltic, the Ukraine and the Caucasus. About a year before, he had been forced to purge some of his own friends in Georgia, men he had known in his youth and whom he had appointed to office. The purge was forced on him by Malenkov and Stalin. . . . But after Stalin's death he got revenge and kicked Malenkov's friends out of their jobs in these key areas. . . . But from Malenkov's mother, who was a Tartar, the premier inherited ruthlessness and cunning. From his father, who was Russian, he inherited forbearance and calculation. It is now obvious that Malenkov waited, probably buttered up Marshal Bulganin, who controls the Red army, Marshal Zhukov, with whom he once rowed, and using his long experience as a chess player, played them off against Beria, whom he hated.

EAST GERMAN TRIGGER—No one will know definitely for a long time what finally tipped the scales against Beria. But probably it was the East German riots plus the bog-down of Russian atomic energy. Beria was in charge of the A-bomb program, was responsible for policing East Germany, Czechoslovakia, the satellites. . . . When the uranium mines got flooded and Czech - German workers staged riots and strikes, it played into Malenkov's hands, undoubtedly gave him the excuse he had been waiting for. . . . Malenkov also had the use of the top branch of the secret police, the Shmersh. This is the super-duper outfit which spies even on members of the Politburo and supersedes Beria's own secret police. . . . For some weeks prior to Stalin's death, Malenkov was fabricating Shmersh evidence in order to liquidate Beria, while Beria was fabricating secret police evidence in order to liquidate Malenkov. . . . Prior to January 1953, Stalin had protected his fellow Georgian, Beria, from Malenkov. But two months before he died, he switched over to Malenkov's side. This was during the sordid, bloody, much confused haggle over the Soviet doctors who were prosecuted for secretly poisoning high officials. . . . Unquestionably, their poisoning was done on orders. Dr. Levin, one of the most reputed Kremlin doctors, had been accused in 1937 of having murdered Maxim Gorky—on order of secret police Chief Yagoda. . . . In January 1953, nine Kremlin doctors were accused of the medical murder of Andrei Zhdanov and General Alexander Shcherbakov. Beria was blamed by Malenkov for the murder. . . . But later Beria attempted to turn this against Malenkov, announced that the doctors had been falsely accused, and it became known that they were acting under orders. . . . All of this adds up to the fact that Bolshvism thrives on blood. In fact even before communism, the czars seldom died a natural death. Dora Kaplan's bullet hastened Lenin's death; Stalin's pick-ax treachery in Mexico finally reached Trotsky; Zinoviev, Kamenev, Radek, Bucharin, Rykov, all intimates of Lenin, received a bullet in the nape of the neck. . . . Nice country! . . . Let's be grateful we live in the U. S. A.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Here is a story that has in it factual evidence that has not been printed before so in the interest of justice to a man who last week lost his job in the government without a hearing it ought to be told.

First of all, here is the accurate text of two sentences which should have been included in every news dispatch written from Washington last week purporting to describe the controversy concerning some Protestant clergymen and the Communist-inspired propaganda campaigns in America. But the text of these two sentences were generally omitted. They read thus:

"It hardly needs to be said that the vast majority of American Protestant clergymen are loyal to the free institutions of this country, as well as loyal to their solemn trust as ministers of the gospel. In a sense, this overwhelming majority is embarrassed by the participation of the minority in the activities of the most sinsiter conspiracy in the history of the world."

Involves Three Per Cent

The foregoing declaration was made by J. B. Matthews—formerly a Protestant clergyman and missionary—prior to the time he was employed as a staff investigator by the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations headed by Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin. It was published in the "American Mercury" magazine which appeared on the newstands the middle of last month. It was available to the press and to the White House and to Congress and to the three prominent ministers who last week telegraphed to President Eisenhower about the matter. But on what did they focus their attention? They concentrated on the following sentence in the Matthews article:

"The largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

A few sentences further down in the same article as published, Mr. Matthews wrote that during the last 17 years, the Communist party "has enlisted the support of at least 7,000 Protestant clergymen in the same categories — party members, fellow travelers, espionage agents, party line adherents, and unwitting dupes."

Now, according to the latest available church statistics, there are aproximately 250,000 ordained clergymen in the United States in Protestant faiths. So 7,000 would be less than three per cent. Mr. Matthews regrettably didn't say how many were "unwitting dupes" and how many were in the other categories. But anyway, less than three per cent of the total number of Protestant clergymen in America is a relatively small group. It is important to note these figures because of the nation-wide notor-

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON

The fall of Lavrenti Beria may shake the world; but American domestic politics are rather more likely to be shaken by a quite different event. President Eisenhower has at last opened hostilities against Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

The decisive engagement will be the case of William Bundy, the able official of the Central Intelligence Agency who is McCarthy's newest target. The President shows every sign of the firmest purpose to oppose McCarthy on Bundy, even refusing to permit Bundy to respond to McCarthy's subpoena.

If Eisenhower does not surrender in this Bundy case, McCarthy will have a hard choice. He will have to choose between accepting public defeat, or unmasking his real purposes by publicly attacking the President himself. This can be, and may well be, the final turning point.

The real opening of hostilities, however, was the President's incisive statement denouncing the slander of the Protestant clergy by McCarthy's pet investigator, J. B. Matthews. The real interest of this statement lies in a vital background fact. The White House actively sought the opportunity, indeed created the opportunity, to strike this hard blow at the Wisconsin senator.

It is an old story, now, how Matthews charged that 7,000 Protestant clergymen were secrets agents of Moscow, and how the members of McCarthy's committee therefore protested Matthew's appointment as head of the committee staff. But how the White House seized upon the Matthews issue is not an old story.

Nixon Also Approved

The President's chief of staff, former Governor Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, was the man who decided that Matthews offered the long-awaited "really good issue" on which the President could take his stand against McCarthy.

Inevitably, Adams was opposed by the President's amiable but appeasement-minded legislative liaison officer, Major General Wilton B. Persons. But the President, who has followed the advice of Persons, this time decided the matter in favor of Adams. It is understood that Vice President Richard Nixon also gave his approval.

Rather cleverly, the White House then took steps to stimulate a telegram denouncing Matthews from three leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths, Monsignor John A. O'Brien, the Rev. John Sutherland Bonnell and Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath. This was to give the President a reason to speak. Before the planned answer to the invited telegram could be published, the Vice President hurriedly warned that Matthews was about to be dropped by McCarthy. The only White House reaction was to give the press the President's fine statement without further delay. In short, the intention to strike at McCarthy was abundantly clear.

Meanwhile, the desire to create a diversion drove Senator McCarthy to his attack on Bundy. Bundy, who comes of a distinguished Massachusetts Republican family, is Dean Acheson's son-in-law. As an acquaintance of Alger Hiss, he gave $400 to the Hiss defense fund, so that the wrong doer might be fairly tried. The only crimes charged against Bundy are his marriage to one of the most beautiful women in Washington, and his adherence to the American tradition that every man has a right to a fair trial. To answer to these crimes, Bundy was subpoenaed by McCarthy.

Eisenhower Promised Support

The significance of the Bundy case again lies in the background. Some time ago, McCarthy arrogantly presented Allen Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, with a list of ten alleged "security risks," whom he "ordered" Dulles to dismiss from the CIA. Six of these men, as it turned out, were not in the CIA's employ. Of the other three, a typical representative was the almost excessively respectable Robert H. Thayer, son-in-law of former Representative Ruth B. Pratt of New York. Dulles ignored McCarthy's order and went to Eisenhower.

Dulles told Eisenhower that no intelligence agency could possibly continue to operate effectively if its employes were subject to congressional inquisition. He pointed out the impossibility of maintaining secrecy, of keeping "cover," of doing the intelligence job. He said that he would have to resign if the President could not protect the CIA from such investigators as McCarthy. Eisenhower then promised to support Dulles to the limit.

McCarthy was warned that the President had taken this position. Hence his attempt to subpoena Bundy was — and is — a frank and open challenge to the President. The matter was taken up in the National Security Council on Thursday. The decision was unanimously taken to order Bundy not to respond to the subpoena, under the doctrine of the separate powers of the legislative and executive branches.

McCarthy began his public attack on Bundy before Vice President Nixon could inform him of the Security Council's decision — which might have made him draw back. He has since tried, without result, to blackguard and bully Allen Dulles into submission. There is no question that the administration will yield on the Bundy subpoena. But the faint hearts in the White House are as usual urging "compromise" — in this case, the transfer of Bundy to a less sensitive job, which McCarthy would

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Symington

Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is handsome, charming, debonair and an artful politician. Successful as a business man, secretary of the Air Force in the Truman administration, then regarded as a conservative because of his business connections as well as his antagonism to Acheson, he made as many friends among Republicans as Democrats. He married into a distinguished Republican family.

Usually, in his first year, a senator is silent on the assumption that he needs to learn how to be a senator. He is given unimportant and uninteresting committees. Symington managed, because of his reputation as a conservative, to get on good committees where he can catch the limelight that shines on few but is welcome to all. It is particularly on the McCarthy Committee that Symington seeks and sometimes holds the center of the stage. Perfectly photogenic, television serves him well.

This is important to him because the eye of experience is already discovering that Stuart Symington is getting himself in position to be the Democratic candidate for President in 1956.

The Democrats have few choices. They cannot renominate Harry Truman because he will be too old in 1956 and older by the end of that term in 1960. Besides, as an ex-President, Harry Truman has few opportunities to project himself before the public except as a defender of his disastrous policies. All that he can say is that President Eisenhower has been unable to abandon his policies, which Acheson formulated, and that therefore he must have been right. Someday, Eisenhower will pluck up enough courage to tell the details of the mess he inherited.

Adlai Stevenson is not likely to be renominated or want to be. The left wing of the Democratic party, of which he is a part, has been weakened by the defection of the South during the 1952 campaign and by the elimination of the big city bosses who were their allies. The strength of the Democratic party is still in the South.

Symington would therefore be a logical candidate if he could make himself better known to the people, particularly of the North. This he is trying to accomplish by being a liberal on the McCarthy Committee. Symington is too shrewd to tangle with McCarthy openly; it is all done in the manner of drawing-room politeness for the present. The incident over Dr. J. B. Matthews's article on the Protestant clergy gave Symington a chance for a test of strength which he did not push too far.

But the pattern is clear. Sooner or later, Symington and McCarthy will fight out an isssue over which public opinion is sharply divided and which will make or break Symington's candidacy.

Politicians of both parties are watching this situation closely because should the Democrats win the 1954 congressional election, the chairmanships of committees will change. The chairman of what is now called the McCarthy Committee will be John L. McClellan of Arkansas, an able senator, well versed in the affairs of this committee. However, if the Democrats are in the majority, Symington will be able to push harder than he can now, particularly in the interrogation of witnesses.

On the other hand, should such a situation arise, Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada will be restored as chairman of the Judiciary Committee which means politically that if Symington attempts to soft-pedal the current McCarthy hearings, the Judiciary Committee will find a way to continue them. No influences of any kind can be brought to bear on Senator McCarran who pursues his course come what may.

Stuart Symington is an anti-Communist and when he was appointed a member of the the Committee on Government Operations, it was assumed that he would be on McCarthy's side. But politics is politics, and Democrats are not Republicans, and where a man is a candidate for the Presidency, he becomes sensitive to every instrument that plays in the symphony of political activities. Symington is showing all the symptoms of having a keenly cultivated ear, capable of hearing every rustle of public opinion.

Curiously, many would prefer Symington as a Democratic candidate because of his extraordinary personal charm to oppose General Eisenhower whose principal asset is also charm. The Democrats believe that the Republicans are making a record which they can lick if they find the right man; the Republicans are growing increasingly conscious of the nature of the 1954 and 1956 campaigns.

Maxine Hawkins To Become Bride Of Lear Twigg Powell

Miss Maxine Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Hawkins, LaVale, has selected August 7 as the date of her marriage to Lear Twigg Powell, Morgantown, son of Mrs. William R. Powell, Ellerslie, and the late Mr. Powell.

The ceremony will be performed in First Methodist Church with Rev. William J. Elliott officiating, assisted by Rev. L. W. Burton, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church.

Miss Hawkins is a graduate of Allegany High School, 1945, and Ursuline Business School in 1946. She is secretary to Dr. Emmett L. Jones.

Her fiance attended Potomac State, is a graduate of University of Denver, 1950, where he received his AB degree and received his master's degree at West Virginia University in June.

Homemakers Plan Picnic

Plans were made for the club picnic at the meeting of Polish Mountain Homemakers Club, Saturday afternoon in the club house.

Mrs. Emil Tideman opened the meeting with a prayer from the book "The Upper Room." The group sang "All Through the Night," and Mrs. Emory Davis and Mrs. Russell Smith sang a duet, "Follow the Gleam."

Roll call was answered with "Did you attend Short Course?" Progress on the fair booth was discussed and routine reports given. Mrs. Horace Fisher reported on the book "Wild Flowers of the Alleghenies." Mrs. Smith told of her many interesting experiences at Short Course.

The club picnic will be held August 15 for all members and their families.

Mrs. Bennett was presented cards and handkerchiefs in honor of her birthday and the meeting closed with singing of "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen."

Mrs. Robert Twgg and Mrs. Edna Crocks were hostesses. Guests were Mrs. Barbara Teets and Mrs. Helen Yonker. Others attending were Mrs. Qunter Bennett, Mrs. George McKenzie and Mrs. Richard Grubb.

VFW Auxiliary will meet at the Post Home at 8 o'clock this evening.

Social Chart

The 27th annual Rice Family Reunion will be held Sunday, July 19 at Union Grove Camp Grounds.

Mapleside Homemakers Club will meet Thursday at the summer camp of Mrs. M. H. Burgess, Fort Ashby instead of Constitution Park as planned.

Mrs. Ralph Ferguson, Union Grove will be hostess to WSCS this evening. Those desiring transportation may call Mrs. John Cook, 1520-R.

Ladies Auxiliary of North Branch Volunteer Firemen will hold a festival on the grounds of the fire hall Saturday at 7:30 p. m. It will be followed by the regular Saturday night dance.

Loomis Bible Class of First Baptist Church will meet this evening at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. C. M. Sheetz, 507 Frederick Street. The Amoma Bible Class will meet at 7:30 in the church annex.

Mrs. Kalbaugh Wed To Paul Broadwater

Mrs. Genevieve Kalbaugh, Piedmont, became the bride of Marshall Paul Broadwater, Moscow, July 9 at St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, Rev. G. Stanley Schwind officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Rhodes, Westernport. Mr. Broadwater is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Broadwater.

Miss Shirley Rhodes, sister of the bride and Carl G. Thomas, Westernport were the attendants.

The couple will reside in Piedmont.

Recent Bride Entertained

Mrs. E. William Proudfoot, Baltimore, entertained with a wedding shower in honor of Mrs. Ivan Daniels, a recent bride, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Melvin C. Wright, LaVale, Friday evening.

Mrs. Daniels was the former Miss Elizabeth Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Long, LaVale.

A pink, green and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations, featuring an 18 inch musical bride in the center of the table which played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." The gifts were attached by satin streamers to a large parosol and favors were small brides.

The evening was spent informally. Guests were Mrs. Charles Long, Mrs. Elizabeth Close, Miss Mary Jane McDonald, Miss Mildred McDonald, Mrs. Juluis Driver, Miss Betty Lou Driver, Mrs. Harry A. Smith, Miss Joan Smith, Mrs. Glen Wright and Miss Mary Patterson.

Former Westernport Girl Is Married

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Joann Eileen Haire, Forest Hills, Pa., and Robert Eugene Baughman, Wilkinsburg, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Baughman, Westernport by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Haire, Westernport.

The ceremony was performed June 13 in the Presbyterian Church, Ligonier, Pa., by Rev. Reed, pastor.

Miss Betty Jean Haire, sister of the bride and Charles Linkswiler, Baltimore were the attendants.

Following a honeymoon at Deep Creek Lake the couple are residing in Forest Hills.

Reception Postponed

The reception for the pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, Ridgeley, scheduled for this evening has been postponed until Tuesday, July 21.

Mrs. Frost Entertains Homemakers

The Twiggtown Homemakers met recently at the home of Mrs. Charles Frost, Hinkle Road.

Mrs. A. D. Twgg, Jr., displayed copies of British magazines and newspapers concerning the coronation activities.

Pictures of wild flowers of the Alleghenies were shown and an article read on caring for cut flowers. Mrs. Carl Smith gave a report on the short course.

Mrs. Frost exhibited aluminum and copper trays. Mrs. Hazel Bottenfield spoke on the International Farm Youth Exchange. Miss Maude Bean emphasized the importance of exhibiting at the Fair.

Mrs. McDonald directed the recreation period and refreshments were served.

Guests were Mrs. Harry Lillar, Mrs. Charles Rudolph, Mrs. Lawrence Miller, Mrs. William Flora. Mrs. Carl Smith, Miss Maude Bean and Mrs. Irene McDonald.

Personals

Miss Maxine Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Hawkins, LaVale, has selected August 7 as the date of her marriage to Lear Twigg Powell, Morgantown, son of Mrs. William R. Powell, Ellerslie, and the late Mr. Powell.

The ceremony will be performed in First Methodist Church with Rev. William J. Elliott officiating, assisted by Rev. L. W. Burton, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church.

Miss Hawkins is a graduate of Allegany High School, 1945, and Ursuline Business School in 1946. She is secretary to Dr. Emmett L. Jones.

Her fiance attended Potomac State, is a graduate of University of Denver, 1950, where he received his AB degree and received his master's degree at West Virginia University in June.

Homemakers Plan Picnic

Plans were made for the club picnic at the meeting of Polish Mountain Homemakers Club, Saturday afternoon in the club house.

Mrs. Emil Tideman opened the meeting with a prayer from the book "The Upper Room." The group sang "All Through the Night," and Mrs. Emory Davis and Mrs. Russell Smith sang a duet, "Follow the Gleam."

Roll call was answered with "Did you attend Short Course?" Progress on the fair booth was discussed and routine reports given. Mrs. Horace Fisher reported on the book "Wild Flowers of the Alleghenies." Mrs. Smith told of her many interesting experiences at Short Course.

The club picnic will be held August 15 for all members and their families.

Mrs. Bennett was presented cards and handkerchiefs in honor of her birthday and the meeting closed with singing of "I'll Take You Home Again Kathleen."

Mrs. Robert Twgg and Mrs. Edna Crocks were hostesses. Guests were Mrs. Barbara Teets and Mrs. Helen Yonker. Others attending were Mrs. Qunter Bennett, Mrs. George McKenzie and Mrs. Richard Grubb.

VFW Auxiliary will meet at the Post Home at 8 o'clock this evening.

City To Execute Pact With SRC On Street Work

The Mayor and Council approved a contract with the State Roads Commission yesterday for paving and improving Frederick and Bedford streets under the Federal Urban Development program.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute the contract.

The approval is the first step in financing and getting the project underway. In addition to methods of finance and construction, it also provides that Frederick Street will be northbound one-way with no parking on the westerly side from North Mechanic Street to the corporate limits; Bedford Street will be southbound one-way with no parking on the westerly side from North Mechanic to the corporate limits and on the easterly side between Decatur and Marietta Streets.

In connection with the contract, council also authorized City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to proceed with legal formalities required for the issuance of $350,000 in "Cumberland Urban Development Bonds," authorized by the recent session of the Legislature.

This traffic improvement legislation includes funds for Frederick Street in addition to Franklin and Sanders Streets, and for the completion of Thomas Street.

Finan said it would be 30 to 60 days before the bond issue would be ready. City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson pointed out that a substantial saving to the city might be realized if the sale is delayed. The bond market is upset at the current time but it looks like it will settle within the next 60 to 90 days. The city could then get a better price for its bonds, he added.

Legion Will Hear Convention Report

Reports on the Department of Maryland Convention will be presented at a meeting of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home.

The Membership committee will also present a report. The post, which now has 1,028 members, won top prize in the state for the percentage of gain in members over last year.

Cereus Is Blooming

A night-blooming cereus at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hannas, 648 Baker Street, began to bloom Sunday night, when three blooms opened. Six more buds burst into bloom last night.

North End Playground Organizes Sewing Club

A Sewing Club has been organized at the North End playground and Miss Joyce Fike, play leader, announces the first project of the group will be to embroider tea towels. There are 16 members in the club.

The playoffs in the checkers and Chinese checkers tournaments will get underway today at 1 p. m. under the direction of Charles Calhoun, playground director.

Wednesday at 2 p.m., a doll show will be held, and a hike to Constitution Park is scheduled at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Ridgeley Pushes Anti-Speed Drive

Ridgeley's anti-speed campaign continued against drivers who flaunt the town's 25-mile speed limit with a record single-day arrest total of 10 being recorded Sunday, according to Police Chief H. L. Henry.

The anti-speed campaign, intensified during the weekend rush to Ridgeley taverns by out-of-state cars, is designed to protect the town's children, several of whom have been injured in recent years by speeding vehicles.

Henry stated he believed that all ten would forfeit bonds posted. Several remarked they had read in the Cumberland papers of Ridgeley's launching an anti-speed campaign, but figured there would be no real enforcement, Henry added.

The police chief reiterated that visitors are always welcome to Ridgeley, but that speeding presents too great a hazard to be ignored.

Ridgedale Playground Will Hold Picnic

Ridgedale Playground will hold a picnic Wednesday at 6 p. m., followed by an "On Wheels Parade" at 7:30 p. m. A movie will be shown at dusk.

A horseshoe tournament will be held at the playground Thursday at 7 p. m.

Cub Pack 1 Will Hold Picnic

Cub Scout Pack 1, sponsored by Columbia Street PTA, will hold a picnic with parents as guests today at 5:30 p. m. in Grove 1 of Constitution Park.

Following a picnic lunch, games will be played and Scouts will participate in a camp fire program.

A number of Scouts will also receive awards.

One Hospitalized As Bus Strikes Truck On Bridge

A young woman was hospitalized yesterday after a Cumberland Transit Lines bus collided with a Community Baking Company truck on the Baltimore Street bridge.

Miss Helen Carol Gilmore, 21, of 429 Beall Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for observation, but was not believed to have been injured. Miss Gilmore, secretary in the City Recreation Department, was seriously hurt in an accident June 7. The hospital said she was in "very good" condition, but had been in shock.

City Police said the accident occurred at 8:50 a. m. as a bus driven by John I. Robinette, 321 North Centre Street, descended Washington Street onto the bridge.

A truck driven by Delman Cowgill of Short Gap, W. Va., had stopped at the Western Maryland Railway crossing while a train was passing. Police said Robinette's bus rammed into the rear of the truck.

Seventeen passengers were aboard the bus, but none of the others was believed to have been injured. A nurse, Miss Verna M. Wills, 529 Avirett Avenue, who was riding the bus, accompanied Miss Gilmore to the hospital with Harry B. Wright, Cresaptown, who was driving past.

No charges were filed.

Festival Planned At Centre Street

Plans for its annual festival have been completed by the Centre Street Playground Association. The event will be held today and tomorrow evenings at the playfield.

A feature of the two-night affair will be the coronation of a king, queen and "tiny tot" at 7:30 p. m. today.

Refreshments will be available and there will be games and entertainment for all age groups.

The committees in charge include Mrs. Ethel Gibson, Mrs. Evelyn Means and Mrs. Josephine Martin, kitchen; Mrs. Florence Dryer, Mrs. Ethel Shanholtz and Mrs. Ellen Rennie, hot dog and tonic stand; Mrs. Margaret Buzzard and Mrs. Ann Weisenmiller, cakes, pies and ice cream, and Homer Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Meyers, games party.

Bazaar Is Scheduled At Ridgeley Playlot

A bazaar will be held today at 6 p.m. at the Silver Street playground in Ridgeley. Charles H. Fryer, acting president of the playfield association, said the entertainment will feature a baton twirling exhibition by a group under the direction of Janet Ridgeley. Films will also be shown, Fryer added.

Booths and refreshment stands will be manned and the committee in charge includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coffman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Collins and Mrs. Keith Skidmore.

Final arrangements for the affair were completed at a meeting of the association last night.

Camp Meeting Is Scheduled At Union Grove July 19-31

A 13-day camp meeting will be held at the Union Grove grounds, beginning Sunday at 7:45 p. m. and continuing daily at that time through Friday, July 31.

Additional services will be held at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. Sunday July 26, directors of the Union Grove Camp Meeting Association stated.

Rev. Elmer L. Thompson, pastor of the Painter (Va.) Methodist Church, will be evangelist for the camp meeting, except for the first three nights when the preacher will be Rev. Arden Beck, pastor of the Union Grove Methodist Circuit. Rev. Mr. Beck will be in charge of the meetings.

Rev. Mr. Thompson served as pastor of the Flintstone Circuit about ten years ago, after which he served churches in southern Maryland and Virginia.

James Stevenson, Cumberland will be the song leader and Miss Ilda Leasure will be pianist. Trumpet and accordian selections will also be presented.

The Union Grove camp site, located on the Mason Road about four miles north of Cumberland, has been used for evangelistic meetings for more than 100 years. In recent years, the tabernacle has been painted, a new roof put on and the seats painted. Extensive landscaping has also been done to the grounds. Awnings are used to enclose the 400-seat tabernacle in inclement weather.

City To Execute Pact With SRC On Street Work

The Mayor and Council approved a contract with the State Roads Commission yesterday for paving and improving Frederick and Bedford streets under the Federal Urban Development program.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was authorized to execute the contract.

The approval is the first step in financing and getting the project underway. In addition to methods of finance and construction, it also provides that Frederick Street will be northbound one-way with no parking on the westerly side from North Mechanic Street to the corporate limits; Bedford Street will be southbound one-way with no parking on the westerly side from North Mechanic to the corporate limits and on the easterly side between Decatur and Marietta Streets.

In connection with the contract, council also authorized City Attorney Thomas B. Finan to proceed with legal formalities required for the issuance of $350,000 in "Cumberland Urban Development Bonds," authorized by the recent session of the Legislature.

This traffic improvement legislation includes funds for Frederick Street in addition to Franklin and Sanders Streets, and for the completion of Thomas Street.

Finan said it would be 30 to 60 days before the bond issue would be ready. City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson pointed out that a substantial saving to the city might be realized if the sale is delayed. The bond market is upset at the current time but it looks like it will settle within the next 60 to 90 days. The city could then get a better price for its bonds, he added.

Legion Will Hear Convention Report

Reports on the Department of Maryland Convention will be presented at a meeting of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, tonight at 8 o'clock at the post home.

The Membership committee will also present a report. The post, which now has 1,028 members, won top prize in the state for the percentage of gain in members over last year.

North End Playground Organizes Sewing Club

A Sewing Club has been organized at the North End playground and Miss Joyce Fike, play leader, announces the first project of the group will be to embroider tea towels. There are 16 members in the club.

The playoffs in the checkers and Chinese checkers tournaments will get underway today at 1 p. m. under the direction of Charles Calhoun, playground director.

Wednesday at 2 p.m., a doll show will be held, and a hike to Constitution Park is scheduled at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Ridgeley Pushes Anti-Speed Drive

Ridgeley's anti-speed campaign continued against drivers who flaunt the town's 25-mile speed limit with a record single-day arrest total of 10 being recorded Sunday, according to Police Chief H. L. Henry.

The anti-speed campaign, intensified during the weekend rush to Ridgeley taverns by out-of-state cars, is designed to protect the town's children, several of whom have been injured in recent years by speeding vehicles.

Henry stated he believed that all ten would forfeit bonds posted. Several remarked they had read in the Cumberland papers of Ridgeley's launching an anti-speed campaign, but figured there would be no real enforcement, Henry added.

The police chief reiterated that visitors are always welcome to Ridgeley, but that speeding presents too great a hazard to be ignored.

Ridgedale Playground Will Hold Picnic

Ridgedale Playground will hold a picnic Wednesday at 6 p. m., followed by an "On Wheels Parade" at 7:30 p. m. A movie will be shown at dusk.

A horseshoe tournament will be held at the playground Thursday at 7 p. m.

Cub Pack 1 Will Hold Picnic

Cub Scout Pack 1, sponsored by Columbia Street PTA, will hold a picnic with parents as guests today at 5:30 p. m. in Grove 1 of Constitution Park.

Following a picnic lunch, games will be played and Scouts will participate in a camp fire program.

A number of Scouts will also receive awards.

One Hospitalized As Bus Strikes Truck On Bridge

A young woman was hospitalized yesterday after a Cumberland Transit Lines bus collided with a Community Baking Company truck on the Baltimore Street bridge.

Miss Helen Carol Gilmore, 21, of 429 Beall Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for observation, but was not believed to have been injured. Miss Gilmore, secretary in the City Recreation Department, was seriously hurt in an accident June 7. The hospital said she was in "very good" condition, but had been in shock.

City Police said the accident occurred at 8:50 a. m. as a bus driven by John I. Robinette, 321 North Centre Street, descended Washington Street onto the bridge.

A truck driven by Delman Cowgill of Short Gap, W. Va., had stopped at the Western Maryland Railway crossing while a train was passing. Police said Robinette's bus rammed into the rear of the truck.

Seventeen passengers were aboard the bus, but none of the others was believed to have been injured. A nurse, Miss Verna M. Wills, 529 Avirett Avenue, who was riding the bus, accompanied Miss Gilmore to the hospital with Harry B. Wright, Cresaptown, who was driving past.

No charges were filed.

Festival Planned At Centre Street

Plans for its annual festival have been completed by the Centre Street Playground Association. The event will be held today and tomorrow evenings at the playfield.

A feature of the two-night affair will be the coronation of a king, queen and "tiny tot" at 7:30 p. m. today.

Refreshments will be available and there will be games and entertainment for all age groups.

The committees in charge include Mrs. Ethel Gibson, Mrs. Evelyn Means and Mrs. Josephine Martin, kitchen; Mrs. Florence Dryer, Mrs. Ethel Shanholtz and Mrs. Ellen Rennie, hot dog and tonic stand; Mrs. Margaret Buzzard and Mrs. Ann Weisenmiller, cakes, pies and ice cream, and Homer Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Meyers, games party.

Bazaar Is Scheduled At Ridgeley Playlot

A bazaar will be held today at 6 p.m. at the Silver Street playground in Ridgeley. Charles H. Fryer, acting president of the playfield association, said the entertainment will feature a baton twirling exhibition by a group under the direction of Janet Ridgeley. Films will also be shown, Fryer added.

Booths and refreshment stands will be manned and the committee in charge includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coffman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Collins and Mrs. Keith Skidmore.

Final arrangements for the affair were completed at a meeting of the association last night.

Camp Meeting Is Scheduled At Union Grove July 19-31

A 13-day camp meeting will be held at the Union Grove grounds, beginning Sunday at 7:45 p. m. and continuing daily at that time through Friday, July 31.

Additional services will be held at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. Sunday July 26, directors of the Union Grove Camp Meeting Association stated.

Rev. Elmer L. Thompson, pastor of the Painter (Va.) Methodist Church, will be evangelist for the camp meeting, except for the first three nights when the preacher will be Rev. Arden Beck, pastor of the Union Grove Methodist Circuit. Rev. Mr. Beck will be in charge of the meetings.

Rev. Mr. Thompson served as pastor of the Flintstone Circuit about ten years ago, after which he served churches in southern Maryland and Virginia.

James Stevenson, Cumberland will be the song leader and Miss Ilda Leasure will be pianist. Trumpet and accordian selections will also be presented.

The Union Grove camp site, located on the Mason Road about fou. miles north of Cumberland, has been used for evangelistic meetings for more than 100 years. In recent years, the tabernacle has been painted, a new roof put on and the seats painted. Extensive landscaping has also been done to the grounds. Awnings are used to enclose the 400-seat tabernacle in inclement weather.

Pierce And Roberts Nominated To Start In All-Star Game

Crosley Field Scene Of 20th Contest Today

30,000 Will Attend Game Set 1:30 EST; N.L. 7-5 Favorite

By JACK HAND

CINCINNATI, July 13 (AP)—Billy Pierce, slender lefthander from the Chicago White Sox, will face Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, probably the game's best pitcher, in tomorrow's 20th All-Star game at Crosley Field.

The test of strength between the two major leagues, still 12-7 in favor of the American League despite three straight National League victories, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. (EST). The weather forecast is partly cloudy and mild with no rain.

To Get $110,000 From TV

Millions will follow the game on network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC) that will pay $110,000 into the ball players' pension fund. A capacity crowd of 30,000 will contribute another big bundle.

Managers Casey Stengel of the American and Chuck Dressen of the National followed form in naming Pierce (10-5) and Roberts (14-6) to start. Pierce was the only lefty on the slim six-man staff picked by the New York Yankee skipper and the National lineup is topheavy with lefthanded fence busters.

Both managers declined to name their second or third pitchers, pending developments in the first three innings. However, Stengel was expected to bring in Johnny Sain (9-4) of the Yanks, and Bob Lemon (11-8) or Mike Garcia (10-6) of Cleveland, to follow Pierce.

Dressen said he would have two men in the bullpen all the time. "Curt Simmons and Warren Spahn are both rested, aren't they?" he asked. Simmons, Roberts' roomie on the Phillies, had an 8-5 record and Spahn, Milwaukee's pride, was 11-3 for the year. Both are lefthanders.

Schoendienst To Start

At the request of Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cardinals Dressen probably will rest second baseman Red Schoendienst, league leading hitter at .341, after he has played the required three innings. Schoendienst missed several games recently because of a torn muscle in his left side. Jackie Robinson, recently restored to his old second base job at Brooklyn by Dressen, will take over for Schoendienst.

Stengel may have to catch Yogi Berra the whole ball game for the other catcher, Sammy White of Boston, reportedly had an injured right thumb. Dressen already had replaced two injured catchers, Del Rice of St. Louis, and Del Crandall of Milwaukee, by naming Wes Westrum of New York, and Clyde McCullough of Chicago, to the team.

Under rules of the game, the eight starters named by the vote of some 4,500,000 fans must play at least three innings. They can play nine but must remain for three. The pitchers can pitch no more than three innings, unless it is an extra inning game.

National Is Favorite

Because of the power-packed National League batting order, that team has been made a 7 to 5 favorite. The squad totals, not counting pitchers, show a decided edge for the National in batting average, .302 to .286 and in homers, 219 to 139.

Giants Knock Off Red Sox; Athletics, Braves Win In D. D.

The Giants knocked off the frontrunnng Red Sox of the Dapper Divison in a Dapper Dan Baseball League game yesterday at Penn Avenue Feld by the score of 3-1.

"Ducky" Page, formerly of the Senators, pitched a four-hitter for the Giants and struck out 14 batsmen.

Page and Broome socked homers for the Giants and the latter starred at short for the winners. Scaletta of the Giants and Smith of the Red Sox had two hits each.

The win gave the Giants a 4-4 record for the season. The Red Sox still lead with 7-2.

Manager "Sonny" Shaffer's Braves moved wthin a half game of the first place Tigers in the Dan Division by whipping the Indians, 12-5, at Stitcher Field.

Jimmy Peters of the Braves yielded only four hits and whiffed 13 batters. Gary Wolford sparked the attack with three hits while Peters and Jerry White had two hits each, one of the latter's blows being a triple. Gene Wilt had two hits for the Indians.

The Athletics, managed by Bob Hutcheson and Jack Barham, registered their third straight win and their 5th victory in the last six starts by taking the Senators into camp at Allegany Field by the score of 11-5.

Johnny Morris turned in a nice relief job after supplanting Hugh Reed in the second frame and got credit for the win. He fanned six.

Reed belted a homer and single and Mike Clarke hit a bases loaded triple and a single for the winners. Cranor had two of the Senators' five hits and Broadwater smacked a two-bagger. Mangus fanned seven. The A's moved into third place with a 5-3 record. Scores:

The Pony Baseball League will hold its opening game of the season today at 3:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field where the Mustangs and Stallions will clash.

The Colts will meet the Thoroughbreds on Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. on Stitcher Field.

The Pony League, for 15 to 17 year olds, is the third new league to be taken over by the City Recreation Department this year. Others are the Pee Wee League and the Queen's League.

Uniforms used by the lads have been donated by former ball players.

Central Lunch, East Side Win

Queens Loop Leaders Bag 8th Win In Row

Patricia Thompson posted her sixth pitching triumph of the season in the Queens Softball League as Central Quick Lunch defeated the Hercules Powder Puffs yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 25-1.

The win gave Central a 12-1 record and a victory over East Side Maids Wednesday would bring Central the first half championship. East Side is the runner-up with 11 victories and two losses.

Eileen Hite and Elsie McKee were the "big guns" in yesterday's game with four hits each. Dallas Davis, Thompson, McKee and Hite hit for the circuit.

It was the eighth consecutive triumph for the current pace setters.

East Side's Maids downed Bake's Stop 'N Shop tossers at East Side Field by the score of 6-3.

"Becky" Lechliter collected two of the Maids' seven hits — a triple and single. Doris Adams limited the losers to four hits. Scores:

O'Donnell Posts 67 In Maryland Open

LANDOVER, Md., July 13 (AP)—John O'Donnell of Norfolk, Va., fired a blistering 5-under-par 67 to set a modern course record at Prince Georges Golf and Country Club today and head a field of 60 qualifying for tomorrow's championship play in the Maryland Open Golf Tournament.

The stocky Norfolk professional and Virginia Open champ played his iron shots brilliantly and putted flawlessly in posting scores of 34-33 for the par 72 layout.

His performance bettered by one stroke the course mark of 68 set by Byron Nelson in a celebrity's tournament here last year.

Corley Beagles Win Top Awards

Fitzpatrick's Teek Hi Is Best At Hagerstown

Fitzpatrick's Teek Hi, 13 inch bitch, owned and handled by Walter (Pete) Corley, 360 Williams street, was judged top beagle in the Hagerstown Beagle Club's annual sanctioned Beagle Specialty March Sunday at the farm of L. B. Winebrenner, president of the club.

The 13 months old daughter of Ch. Corley's Bob-O-Link won the 13 inch open class, 13 inch best of variety and was placed best in match by Judge Winifred Heckman, of Baltimore.

Another son of Bob-O-Link, a 13 inch puppy owned by Melvin C. Wigfield, Route 4, Cumberland, won the novice class.

Race At Fort Erie Called No Contest, $34,576 Is Refunded

FORT ERIE, Ont., July 13 (AP)—The third race at Fort Erie this afternoon was declared no contest by the stewards. After all the dozen runners had been loaded in their stalls, the Melbourne Stable's Merriwell became so fractious that one of his lunges set off a part of the mechanical device that throws open the stall gates. The starter himself had nothing to do with the accident.

When the doors did fly open, most of the horses broke by natural instinct, while some of the riders, failing to hear the bell, judged something was wrong and immediately began to pull their mounts up. One of the outriders, Bill Scott, was aware of the situation and attempted to catch up with some of the performers that were well on their way.

After the affair, the management immediately announced that all monies wagered on the contest would be refunded and a sum of $34,576 was handed back to the fans.

CINCINNATI, July 13 (AP)—Billy Pierce, slender lefthander from the Chicago White Sox, will face Philadelphia's Robin Roberts, probably the game's best pitcher, in tomorrow's 20th All-Star game at Crosley Field.

The test of strength between the two major leagues, still 12-7 in favor of the American League despite three straight National League victories, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. (EST). The weather forecast is partly cloudy and mild with no rain.

Under rules of the game, the eight starters named by the vote of some 4,500,000 fans must play at least three innings. They can play nine but must remain for three. The pitchers can pitch no more than three innings, unless it is an extra inning game.

National Is Favorite

Because of the power-packed National League batting order, that team has been made a 7 to 5 favorite. The squad totals, not counting pitchers, show a decided edge for the National in batting average, .302 to .286 and in homers, 219 to 139.

Giants Knock Off Red Sox; Athletics, Braves Win In D. D.

"Ducky" Page, formerly of the Senators, pitched a four-hitter for the Giants and struck out 14 batsmen.

Page and Broome socked homers for the Giants and the latter starred at short for the winners. Scaletta of the Giants and Smith of the Red Sox had two hits each.

The win gave the Giants a 4-4 record for the season. The Red Sox still lead with 7-2.

Manager "Sonny" Shaffer's Braves moved wthin a half game of the first place Tigers in the Dan Division by whipping the Indians, 12-5, at Stitcher Field.

Jimmy Peters of the Braves yielded only four hits and whiffed 13 batters. Gary Wolford sparked the attack with three hits while Peters and Jerry White had two hits each, one of the latter's blows being a triple. Gene Wilt had two hits for the Indians.

The Athletics, managed by Bob Hutcheson and Jack Barham, registered their third straight win and their 5th victory in the last six starts by taking the Senators into camp at Allegany Field by the score of 11-5.

Johnny Morris turned in a nice relief job after supplanting Hugh Reed in the second frame and got credit for the win. He fanned six.

Reed belted a homer and single and Mike Clarke hit a bases loaded triple and a single for the winners. Cranor had two of the Senators' five hits and Broadwater smacked a two-bagger. Mangus fanned seven. The A's moved into third place with a 5-3 record. Scores:

Pony League Opens Today

The Pony Baseball League will hold its opening game of the season today at 3:30 p. m. at Penn Avenue Field where the Mustangs and Stallions will clash.

The Colts will meet the Thoroughbreds on Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. on Stitcher Field.

The Pony League, for 15 to 17 year olds, is the third new league to be taken over by the City Recreation Department this year. Others are the Pee Wee League and the Queen's League.

Uniforms used by the lads have been donated by former ball players.

Central Lunch, East Side Win

Queens Loop Leaders Bag 8th Win In Row

Patricia Thompson posted her sixth pitching triumph of the season in the Queens Softball League as Central Quick Lunch defeated the Hercules Powder Puffs yesterday at Stitcher Field by the score of 25-1.

The win gave Central a 12-1 record and a victory over East Side Maids Wednesday would bring Central the first half championship. East Side is the runner-up with 11 victories and two losses.

Eileen Hite and Elsie McKee were the "big guns" in yesterday's game with four hits each. Dallas Davis, Thompson, McKee and Hite hit for the circuit.

It was the eighth consecutive triumph for the current pace setters.

East Side's Maids downed Bake's Stop 'N Shop tossers at East Side Field by the score of 6-3.

"Becky" Lechliter collected two of the Maids' seven hits — a triple and single. Doris Adams limited the losers to four hits. Scores:

Pence, Sell Beat Bowie And Eyler In Dingle Match

Another seeded men's doubles team bowed out of the Dingle tennis tournament yesterday when Gordon L. Bowie and Walter Eyler, who usually go to the finals in the local tournaments, lost to a dark-horse combination of Bob Pence and Norman Sell, 7-5, 7-5.

The next doubles match is set for Thursday at 6:30 on the Dingle courts where Jack Dorsey and Joe Calhoun of Keyser play Bill Day and Harold Wintermoyer.

O'Donnell Posts 67 In Maryland Open

LANDOVER, Md., July 13 (AP)—John O'Donnell of Norfolk, Va., fired a blistering 5-under-par 67 to set a modern course record at Prince Georges Golf and Country Club today and head a field of 60 qualifying for tomorrow's championship play in the Maryland Open Golf Tournament.

The stocky Norfolk professional and Virginia Open champ played his iron shots brilliantly and putted flawlessly in posting scores of 34-33 for the par 72 layout.

His performance bettered by one stroke the course mark of 68 set by Byron Nelson in a celebrity's tournament here last year.

Corley Beagles Win Top Awards

Fitzpatrick's Teek Hi Is Best At Hagerstown

Fitzpatrick's Teek Hi, 13 inch bitch, owned and handled by Walter (Pete) Corley, 360 Williams street, was judged top beagle in the Hagerstown Beagle Club's annual sanctioned Beagle Specialty March Sunday at the farm of L. B. Winebrenner, president of the club.

The 13 months old daughter of Ch. Corley's Bob-O-Link won the 13 inch open class, 13 inch best of variety and was placed best in match by Judge Winifred Heckman, of Baltimore.

Another son of Bob-O-Link, a 13 inch puppy owned by Melvin C. Wigfield, Route 4, Cumberland, won the novice class.

Race At Fort Erie Called No Contest, $34,576 Is Refunded

FORT ERIE, Ont., July 13 (AP)—The third race at Fort Erie this afternoon was declared no contest by the stewards. After all the dozen runners had been loaded in their stalls, the Melbourne Stable's Merriwell became so fractious that one of his lunges set off a part of the mechanical device that throws open the stall gates. The starter himself had nothing to do with the accident.

When the doors did fly open, most of the horses broke by natural instinct, while some of the riders, failing to hear the bell, judged something was wrong and immediately began to pull their mounts up. One of the outriders, Bill Scott, was aware of the situation and attempted to catch up with some of the performers that were well on their way.

After the affair, the management immediately announced that all monies wagered on the contest would be refunded and a sum of $34,576 was handed back to the fans.

Times-News retained its one-game lead in the Hot Stove Baseball League by defeating the Jaycees last night at Penn Avenue Field, 11-4, after the runner-up Rotary Club had swamped the Kiwanis Club in an afternoon game by the score of 18-0.

In the nocturnal tilt, the Newsies spotted the Jaycees two runs in the first inning when Tommy Dunbar homered with a mate aboard, then amassed 11 tallies in the third, fourth and fifth frames to put the game on ice.

Jimmy Beck posted his first win for the Times-News, although Bill Hanekamp was called on for relief in the fifth stanza.

Joe Cioni sparked a four-run rally in the third by belting a two-run homer. Dave Durst had three hits in three trips and Bill Powell hit safely twice. Evans homered for the Jaycees in the fifth while Rankin and Dunbar had two hits each.

Kenneth Klosterman held the Kiwanians to six bingles and struck out nine in the Rotary Club's victory. Lonnie Jackson's club pounded Norris and Cunningham for 18 safeties, including Mike Lease's homer, double and single in five trips and Charley Granigan's two doubles and a single. Richard Cross garnered two hits and Jesse Markley banged a triple. The scores:

Unbeaten Fort Cumberland Meets Farrady Here Today

Locals Angle For 7th Win In Legion League

Farrady Post of Frostburg will try for the third time to defeat Fort Cumberland Post's undefeated nine when the teams tangle today in a Mountain District, American Legion Junior Baseball League game at Fort Hill Field at 5:30 o'clock.

Victorious in six games, the Cumberland tossers have whipped the Mountain City nine twice by scores of 6-0 and 15-6. Harry Iser has turned the trick on both occasions while Henry Lloyd and Bobby Blank were the losers.

Iser or Don Paye, the local southpaw who won his lone start against Grantsville, will be on the firing line for Fort Cumberland in today's contest while Blank (2-2) is expected to get the slab assignment for the visitors.

Midland Post will play host to Grantsville today at 5:30 at the Midland Ball Park. Midland took the opener of this series, 10-2, while the Garrett countians grabbed the second contest, 5-2.

Today's games will mark the opening of the final half of the league's 24-game schedule.

Tod Cuthbertson, Midland, is still showing the way in the individual batting race with an average of .533. Rickey Harris, Frostburg, trails with .474 followed by Bob Kirtley of Fort Cumberland with .455.

Bobby Dawson of the league leaders tops the pitchers with a 3-0 record. Blank leads in strikeouts with 24. The averages to date:

Webb Suggests AL Move Teams To West Coast

Can't See Baltimore As Major Loop City

CINCINNATI, July 13 (AP) — Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, suggested today that the welfare of the American League could best be safeguarded by the transfer of the St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics to such California cities as Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The Western-bred Yankee executive, while expressing sympathy for St. Louis Owner Bill Veeck, hinted he did not believe Veeck's contemplated shift to Baltimore would solve the American League problem. Other American League executives, however, indicated they would support him in his efforts to shift to Baltimore.

Too Many In East

"I think we have too much major league baseball in the East already," said Webb. "Everything is moving westward. Why not baseball? This game is supposed to be our national pastime. Then why are all the big league clubs concentrated in the East?

"The Pacific Coast League has made an attempt to become a third major league. It advanced from a triple A to open classification last year. I believe we should wait another year to see whether the PCL can attain major league status. If it can't, then it should allow its two largest cities—Los Angeles and San Francisco—to become major."

Webb, who voted against the Browns' move to Baltimore last March, suggested Veeck sell the club to people with plenty of money behind them. He said Roy and Earl Mack, owners of the Athletics, should do likewise.

"The National League is all set. It go rid of its weak sister by transferring Boston to Milwaukee. Now it is up to us to get Los Angeles and San Francisco into our league. One would not be enough since it would create transportation problems. Two clubs on the coast would solve it, I believe."

Coast League Shaky

Webb, who insisted the opinion was strictly his own and not the league's, declined to pass his judgment on the stability of the Pacific Coast League but Clarence Rowland, president of the PCL, admitted attendance had fallen off 200,000 this year.

"Our league is determined to become major," he said. "We're in this thing all together and we don't intend to let anyone come in and take our two best cities away from us without a fight. It took the American League several years to settle down and gain major status. Why not give us the same chance?"

Veeck said that other than Baltimore, he had given no thought to any other city as a possible new home for the Browns. Veeck confirmed he has a gentleman's agreement with Baltimore officials to move his club to Baltimore if approved by the league.

Williams Will Get Medical Checkup At Bethesda Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Ted Williams checked in today at nearby Bethesda Naval Hospital for a medical checkup that will decide his immediate future in baseball and the Marine Corps.

The former Boston Red Sox batting star repeated to newsmen what he's said previously, that he doesn't expect to see diamond action this year even if he gets out of service immediately—he can't get in shape in time.

As for next season, Williams appeared uncertain in his own mind just what he expects. But he said he is eager to whip himself into shape and try for a comeback.

Williams will take a train tonight to Cincinnati to see the All-Star baseball game there tomorrow as the guest of Baseball Commisioner Ford Frick.

Mulloy To Captain Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, No. 1 ranking tennis player in the United States, will captain the three-man United States Davis Cup team which will play the British West Indies at Kingston, Jamaica, July 23-25.

Two younger players, Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., and Robert Perry of Los Angeles, will join with the 40-year-old Mulloy in the American zone semi-final series. None of the three played in the first round against Japan.

Pity The Poor Yanks:

Bucky Harris Says Yankees Get Most Mileage On "Cheap Homers"

Nats' Pilot Personally Likes The White Sox

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Bucky Harris, who used to boss the New York Yankees but now is busy trying to bash 'em, says the world champions get most of their mileage on "cheap home runs."

Furthermore, he adds, the Yanks this year aren't the ball club they once were and he wouldn't be surprised to see them thwarted in their bid for a fifth American League pennant—probably by the Chicago White Sox.

"You have to go with the Yanks now because of that fat five-game lead," the Washington pilot said before departing for the All-Star game in Cincinnati.

"But they're not the team they were last year, or the year before. Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi, their two big reliables, aren't pitching as well. The team as a whole isn't as solid—not as sure of itself.

"If the Yankees have as much trouble on their coming Western trip as I suspect they will — if Cleveland is as troublesome as it was here—then you're going to see a whale of a race.

"Personally, I like the White Sox. They've got a lot of fire and spirit. They're driving."

Ben Hogan Is Winner In June Hickok Poll

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) — Ben Hogan, who wins everything in golf, won the June poll of sports writers and broadcasters to strengthen his bid for the fourth Ray Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" award.

Collecting 194 points on 54 first-place votes, Hogan finished on top of the monthly balloting for the second time this year.

Second in the June voting was Lightweight Boxing Champion Jimmy Carter with 78 points and only six first place votes. American Middleweight Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson was third with 54 points.

Belgium Tops Italy In Davis Cup Tests

BRUSSELS, July 13 (AP) — With Jackie Brichant scoring the decisive victory, Belgium upset Italy, three matches to two, today to gain the final round of the European zone Davis Cup tennis eliminations.

The Belgians will meet Denmark, 4-1 winner over France, in the other semi-final played at Paris.

With the score tied 2-2, Brichant clinched victory for the Belgians by downing Italy's Fausto Gardini, 12-10, 1-6, 0-6, 6-0, 6-4.

Keyser Beats Barton

BARTON, July 13 — The Keyser Pirates defeated the Dodgers of the Barton Little League here today by the score of 12-3.

Turbin was Keyser's leading hitter with a homer, two doubles and a single while D. Warnick led the Dodgers with three singles.

The Barton Red Sox of the Little League and the Barton Braves, Hot Stove team, will play in a doubleheader at Mt. Savage on Wednesday. Score:

KEYSER PIRATES	323 400—12	7	1

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Filmz. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applicator, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but, when ants touch it, their legs become paralyzed and they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches! Roach Filmz is available at ROSENBAUM'S - FOURTH FLOOR

Mountaineers Oppose St. John's On Jan. 5

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Madison Square Garden, once the mecca of the college basketball world, will have a 17-night schedule next winter in its 20th year of college cage doubleheaders.

The schedule will feature a three-night eight-team holiday tournament Dec. 26-30, plus 14 regular twinbills. That's only a little more than half the number five years ago, before the "fix" scandals of 1951 rocked basketball and cut down the crowds who used to fill the big arena.

As usual, St. John's of Brooklyn, New York University and Manhattan will make the most appearances. All three also will be in the second annual holiday tourney against LaSalle, Brigham Young, Duquesne, Niagara and St. Louis. St. John's and NYU will play eight times in addition to the tournament and Manhattan six times.

Other teams besides Rio Grande and Adelphi playing in the Garden for the first time will be Wake Forest, 1953 Southern Conference champion, Richmond, and Marshall of West Virginia.

The schedule includes:

Jan. 2, NYU vs. Miami (Ohio) and Iona vs. Marshall; Jan. 5, St. John's vs. West Virginia and Seton Hall vs. Wake Forest; Feb. 11, NYU vs. Manhattan and St. John's vs. Richmond.

Narrows Esso Wins

Unbeaten Fort Cumberland Meets Farrady Here Today

Locals Angle For 7th Win In Legion League

Farrady Post of Frostburg will try for the third time to defeat Fort Cumberland Post's undefeated nine when the teams tangle today in a Mountain District, American Legion Junior Baseball League game at Fort Hill Field at 5:30 o'clock.

Victorious in six games, the Cumberland tossers have whipped the Mountain City nine twice by scores of 6-0 and 15-6. Harry Iser has turned the trick on both occasions while Henry Lloyd and Bobby Blank were the losers.

Iser or Don Paye, the local southpaw who won his lone start against Grantsville, will be on the firing line for Fort Cumberland in today's contest while Blank (2-2) is expected to get the slab assignment for the visitors.

Midland Post will play host to Grantsville today at 5:30 at the Midland Ball Park. Midland took the opener of this series, 10-2, while the Garrett countians grabbed the second contest, 5-2.

Today's games will mark the opening of the final half of the league's 24-game schedule.

Tod Cuthbertson, Midland, is still showing the way in the individual batting race with an average of .533. Rickey Harris, Frostburg, trails with .474 followed by Bob Kirtley of Fort Cumberland with .455.

Bobby Dawson of the league leaders tops the pitchers with a 3-0 record. Blank leads in strikeouts with 24. The averages to date:

Can't See Baltimore As Major Loop City

CINCINNATI, July 13 (AP) — Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, suggested today that the welfare of the American League could best be safeguarded by the transfer of the St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics to such California cities as Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The Western-bred Yankee executive, while expressing sympathy for St. Louis Owner Bill Veeck, hinted he did not believe Veeck's contemplated shift to Baltimore would solve the American League problem. Other American League executives, however, indicated they would support him in his efforts to shift to Baltimore.

Too Many In East

"I think we have too much major league baseball in the East already," said Webb. "Everything is moving westward. Why not baseball? This game is supposed to be our national pastime. Then why are all the big league clubs concentrated in the East?

"The Pacific Coast League has made an attempt to become a third major league. It advanced from a triple A to open classification last year. I believe we should wait another year to see whether the PCL can attain major league status. If it can't, then it should allow its two largest cities—Los Angeles and San Francisco—to become major."

Webb, who voted against the Browns' move to Baltimore last March, suggested Veeck sell the club to people with plenty of money behind them. He said Roy and Earl Mack, owners of the Athletics, should do likewise.

"The National League is all set. It go rid of its weak sister by transferring Boston to Milwaukee. Now it is up to us to get Los Angeles and San Francisco into our league. One would not be enough since it would create transportation problems. Two clubs on the coast would solve it, I believe."

Coast League Shaky

Webb, who insisted the opinion was strictly his own and not the league's, declined to pass his judgment on the stability of the Pacific Coast League but Clarence Rowland, president of the PCL, admitted attendance had fallen off 200,000 this year.

"Our league is determined to become major," he said. "We're in this thing all together and we don't intend to let anyone come in and take our two best cities away from us without a fight. It took the American League several years to settle down and gain major status. Why not give us the same chance?"

Veeck said that other than Baltimore, he had given no thought to any other city as a possible new home for the Browns. Veeck confirmed he has a gentleman's agreement with Baltimore officials to move his club to Baltimore if approved by the league.

Williams Will Get Medical Checkup At Bethesda Hospital

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Ted Williams checked in today at nearby Bethesda Naval Hospital for a medical checkup that will decide his immediate future in baseball and the Marine Corps.

The former Boston Red Sox batting star repeated to newsmen what he's said previously, that he doesn't expect to see diamond action this year even if he gets out of service immediately—he can't get in shape in time.

As for next season, Williams appeared uncertain in his own mind just what he expects. But he said he is eager to whip himself into shape and try for a comeback.

Williams will take a train tonight to Cincinnati to see the All-Star baseball game there tomorrow as the guest of Baseball Commisioner Ford Frick.

Mulloy To Captain Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, No. 1 ranking tennis player in the United States, will captain the three-man United States Davis Cup team which will play the British West Indies at Kingston, Jamaica, July 23-25.

Two younger players, Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., and Robert Perry of Los Angeles, will join with the 40-year-old Mulloy in the American zone semi-final series. None of the three played in the first round against Japan.

I MADE IT WITH THIS—That's what Dr. Frank T. Cawley tells Mrs. G. William Bibby as he displays the No. 6 iron that brought him his first hole-in-one on the 18th last week at the Cumberland Country Club. The local X-ray specialist is the first CCC player to make an ace on the 18th—a 165-yard par three hole. Dr. Cawley posted a 78 while playing in a foursome the day he made the hole-in-one.

Pity The Poor Yanks:

Bucky Harris Says Yankees Get Most Mileage On "Cheap Homers"

Nats' Pilot Personally Likes The White Sox

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Bucky Harris, who used to boss the New York Yankees but now is busy trying to bash 'em, says the world champions get most of their mileage on "cheap home runs."

Furthermore, he adds, the Yanks this year aren't the ball club they once were and he wouldn't be surprised to see them thwarted in their bid for a fifth American League pennant—probably by the Chicago White Sox.

"You have to go with the Yanks now because of that fat five-game lead," the Washington pilot said before departing for the All-Star game in Cincinnati.

"But they're not the team they were last year, or the year before. Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi, their two big reliables, aren't pitching as well. The team as a whole isn't as solid—not as sure of itself.

"If the Yankees have as much trouble on their coming Western trip as I suspect they will — if Cleveland is as troublesome as it was here—then you're going to see a whale of a race.

"Personally, I like the White Sox. They've got a lot of fire and spirit. They're driving."

Ben Hogan Is Winner In June Hickok Poll

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP) — Ben Hogan, who wins everything in golf, won the June poll of sports writers and broadcasters to strengthen his bid for the fourth Ray Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" award.

Collecting 194 points on 54 first-place votes, Hogan finished on top of the monthly balloting for the second time this year.

Second in the June voting was Lightweight Boxing Champion Jimmy Carter with 78 points and only six first place votes. American Middleweight Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson was third with 54 points.

Belgium Tops Italy In Davis Cup Tests

BRUSSELS, July 13 (AP) — With Jackie Brichant scoring the decisive victory, Belgium upset Italy, three matches to two, today to gain the final round of the European zone Davis Cup tennis eliminations.

The Belgians will meet Denmark, 4-1 winner over France, in the other semi-final played at Paris.

With the score tied 2-2, Brichant clinched victory for the Belgians by downing Italy's Fausto Gardini, 12-10, 1-6, 0-6, 6-0, 6-4.

Keyser Beats Barton

BARTON, July 13 — The Keyser Pirates defeated the Dodgers of the Barton Little League here today by the score of 12-3.

Turbin was Keyser's leading hitter with a homer, two doubles and a single while D. Warnick led the Dodgers with three singles.

The Barton Red Sox of the Little League and the Barton Braves, Hot Stove team, will play in a doubleheader at Mt. Savage on Wednesday. Score:

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Filmz. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applicator, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but, when ants touch it, their legs become paralyzed and they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches! Roach Filmz is available at ROSENBAUM'S - FOURTH FLOOR

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Madison Square Garden, once the mecca of the college basketball world, will have a 17-night schedule next winter in its 20th year of college cage doubleheaders.

The schedule will feature a three-night eight-team holiday tournament Dec. 26-30, plus 14 regular twinbills. That's only a little more than half the number five years ago, before the "fix" scandals of 1951 rocked basketball and cut down the crowds who used to fill the big arena.

As usual, St. John's of Brooklyn, New York University and Manhattan will make the most appearances. All three also will be in the second annual holiday tourney against LaSalle, Brigham Young, Duquesne, Niagara and St. Louis. St. John's and NYU will play eight times in addition to the tournament and Manhattan six times.

Other teams besides Rio Grande and Adelphi playing in the Garden for the first time will be Wake Forest, 1953 Southern Conference champion, Richmond, and Marshall of West Virginia.

The schedule includes:

Jan. 2, NYU vs. Miami (Ohio) and Iona vs. Marshall; Jan. 5, St. John's vs. West Virginia and Seton Hall vs. Wake Forest; Feb. 11, NYU vs. Manhattan and St. John's vs. Richmond.

OVER-RATING YOURSELF

DO YOU over-rate your own playing ability, in comparison with that of your partners? Do you think you can get a better result in a wrong contract than they can in a right one? If so, you probably have another "think" due. That is, unless they play very badly. One of the most embarrassing things that can happen to you is to conceitedly choose the wrong contract, when game would be easy in the right one, and then play the hand ineptly, though your wrong contract could have been made by keen work.

Holding those three spades and a singleton, South had no excuse at all for not bidding 4-Spades, instead of 3-No Trumps, except that he thought he could outplay his partner. There is no way North could have lost more than two tricks in clubs and one in spades, and not even these unless the defenders took clubs at once, since diamonds could have furnished more than enough discards for him.

In the No Trump game, South let the heart 5 lead, covered by the 7, be won by the Q, watched East return the club Q, which he underplayed, then the 7, which the 8 and 9 covered, and won with the spade A when West returned the 8 to avoid setting up the club K. South quickly ran five tricks in diamonds, forcing discards from all other hands, then led to the spade K. Now he scored the heart A and led the J to West's K, the setting trick then being taken by the club A.

Imagine South's embarrassment when North pointed out how easily the contract could have been made with a throw-in play. Since West had divested himself of the club J to hold the A of that suit and the heart K-10 for his last three cards, and East had discarded his last club on the fifth diamond, retaining two hearts, all that South had to do was lead the spade J to the Q. East would have had to return a heart to make the last two tricks for South.

4-H Camp Dining Hall Will Honor Hardy County Agent

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The dining hall at the Hardy County 4-H Camp, Camp Pinacle, was dedicated in honor of S. L. Dodd, who resigned as County Agent of Hardy County July 1. Dodd had served Hardy County since January 1, 1926.

C. J. Cunningham, manager of the Raymann Memorial Experimental Farms, Wardensville, made the dedication and presented Dodd with a plaque which was inscribed "Honoring S. L. Dodd, County Agent of Hardy County from January 1, 1926 to July 1, 1953." The plaque was placed over the fireplace in Dodd Hall.

The guest speaker was Miss Pansy Ventura, of India, who spoke to the group on the customs of her country. Herman Bowers, assistant director of Extension work, also made a brief talk.

The dedication ceremonies were in conjunction with the annual Hardy County Farm Woman's Picnic. Nearly 120 farm women, Farm Bureau members, 4-H members and leaders and special guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Ida Feller, president of the Hardy County Farm Woman's Council, presented Mrs. Dodd with a compact for her outstanding part in Farm Women's work and her assistance to Dodd in carrying out his work.

Pilot Bails Out Over Buckhannon

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., July 13 (AP)—The pilot and lone occupant of a disabled air force fighter plane escaped by parachute before the craft crashed near here Sunday.

Lt. Col. Robert F. Mallory, 34, of McLean, Va., landed with no injury except an ear cut caused by his parachute harness.

Mallory was on a flight from Wright Air Force Base, Dayton, O., to Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington. He said he was stationed in Washington in the office of the Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff for Materiel.

The pilot said he bailed out after the cockpit of the single-engine F-51 plane became filled with smoke and steam. He did not discuss further what might have been the trouble with the plane.

Mallory, a veteran of 13 years as a fighter pilot, said it was the second time he had made an emergency parachute jump. The first jump was from a jet fighter over Okinawa four years ago.

OVER-RATING YOURSELF

DO YOU over-rate your own playing ability, in comparison with that of your partners? Do you think you can get a better result in a wrong contract than they can in a right one? If so, you probably have another "think" due. That is, unless they play very badly. One of the most embarrassing things that can happen to you is to conceitedly choose the wrong contract, when game would be easy in the right one, and then play the hand ineptly, though your wrong contract could have been made by keen work.

Holding those three spades and a singleton, South had no excuse at all for not bidding 4-Spades, instead of 3-No Trumps, except that he thought he could outplay his partner. There is no way North could have lost more than two tricks in clubs and one in spades, and not even these unless the defenders took clubs at once, since diamonds could have furnished more than enough discards for him.

In the No Trump game, South let the heart 5 lead, covered by the 7, be won by the Q, watched East return the club Q, which he underplayed, then the 7, which the 8 and 9 covered, and won with the spade A when West returned the 8 to avoid setting up the club K. South quickly ran five tricks in diamonds, forcing discards from all other hands, then led to the spade K. Now he scored the heart A and led the J to West's K, the setting trick then being taken by the club A.

Imagine South's embarrassment when North pointed out how easily the contract could have been made with a throw-in play. Since West had divested himself of the club J to hold the A of that suit and the heart K-10 for his last three cards, and East had discarded his last club on the fifth diamond, retaining two hearts, all that South had to do was lead the spade J to the Q. East would have had to return a heart to make the last two tricks for South.

4-H Camp Dining Hall Will Honor Hardy County Agent

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The dining hall at the Hardy County 4-H Camp, Camp Pinacle, was dedicated in honor of S. L. Dodd, who resigned as County Agent of Hardy County July 1. Dodd had served Hardy County since January 1, 1926.

C. J. Cunningham, manager of the Raymann Memorial Experimental Farms, Wardensville, made the dedication and presented Dodd with a plaque which was inscribed "Honoring S. L. Dodd, County Agent of Hardy County from January 1, 1926 to July 1, 1953." The plaque was placed over the fireplace in Dodd Hall.

The guest speaker was Miss Pansy Ventura, of India, who spoke to the group on the customs of her country. Herman Bowers, assistant director of Extension work, also made a brief talk.

The dedication ceremonies were in conjunction with the annual Hardy County Farm Woman's Picnic. Nearly 120 farm women, Farm Bureau members, 4-H members and leaders and special guests were in attendance.

Mrs. Ida Feller, president of the Hardy County Farm Woman's Council, presented Mrs. Dodd with a compact for her outstanding part in Farm Women's work and her assistance to Dodd in carrying out his work.

Pilot Bails Out Over Buckhannon

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., July 13 (AP)—The pilot and lone occupant of a disabled air force fighter plane escaped by parachute before the craft crashed near here Sunday.

Lt. Col. Robert F. Mallory, 34, of McLean, Va., landed with no injury except an ear cut caused by his parachute harness.

Mallory was on a flight from Wright Air Force Base, Dayton, O., to Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington. He said he was stationed in Washington in the office of the Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff for Materiel.

The pilot said he bailed out after the cockpit of the single-engine F-51 plane became filled with smoke and steam. He did not discuss further what might have been the trouble with the plane.

Mallory, a veteran of 13 years as a fighter pilot, said it was the second time he had made an emergency parachute jump. The first jump was from a jet fighter over Okinawa four years ago.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 12—(INS)—Right from New York I get the news that Paramount has finally closed a deal to buy "Hazel Flagg," based on Ben Hecht's story. This was taken from "Nothing Sacred," the old Carol Lombard and Freddie March success which David O. Selznick made years ago.

The thing that surprises me the most about "Hazel Flagg" is that it was bought for Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. I had thought the boys were tied up with Hal Wallis, but it seems they have the right to an outside picture. For instance, "The Caddy" was made for Paramount.

In the stage play "Hazel Flagg" starred Helen Gallagher, Thomas Mitchell and Jack Whiting. The screen version will have Producer Paul Jones at the helm, with Norman Taurog directing.

Cinderella discovery of new young talent is what has always made Hollywood the glamour city of the world. There's been much too little of that lately, so I am very pleased to tell you that Warners has a new actress by the name of Dolores Dorn, who will co-star with Randy Scott in "The Bounty Hunters."

Now just a word about Dolores, who is blonde, beautiful, and very likely to follow the pattern of Doris Day's success. Dolores was in the Chicago Goodman Art Theatre, where she was billed under her real name, Dolores Heft.

However, Sol Biano, Warner talent scout, first saw her at a drugstore across from Warners Studio, sipping a glass of milk.

Dimitri Tiomkin has made an offer to MGM for the rights to "The Great Waltz," made many years ago as a film starring Militza Korjus.

If Tiomkin puts over the deal, he'll make the film in Vienna, the birthplace of Strauss. He does not plan to use a top singer, but he's interested in a girl with the tricky name of "Miss Los Angeles." She won a vocal contest and was given this handle. However, Tiomkin says she has one of the great young voices of today, naturally, she will change her name to something more pleasing.

At dinner the other evening, Frances Bergen told me how much she loved Ireland. Seems Charlie McCarthy wore a red wig there and the Irish took this almost human little character right to their hearts.

Frances said that while in Stockholm, Edgar ate so much smorgasbord it was practically coming out of his ears.

"I was thrilled," Frances said, "with the way all the people in Edgar's native country welcomed him. It was the most wonderful trip we've ever had."

What a great girl Frances is. Edgar is lucky to have her, but then she's lucky to have him, too, so that makes them even.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jean Negulesco and his wife, the former Dusty Anderson, staged a reconciliation in Paris.

Shades of my childhood! After a wonderful dinner at Jack's at the Beach, we went to Ocean Park. Sally Eilers, her husband Holly Morse, and her good looking son, Harry Joe Brown, Jr., went with us and we played all the games along the boardwalk. Even rode the merry-go-round!

Katherine Thalberg was presented with the original shooting script of "Romeo and Juliet" on the MGM lot at luncheon a few days ago. Her mother, Norma Shearer, starred in this picture, and her father, the late Irving Thalberg, produced it.

Olivia De Havilland goes to Broadway in the fall to star in the French play, "The Shining Hour." She and Jose Ferrer will do the same play in La Jolla in August.

The premiere of "Return to Paradise" is set for Samoa. The natives are calling it "Kalikupo," which means "Lots of Money," and is the name they call Gary Cooper.

Jonathan Taurog makes his screen debut in the Community Chest film directed by his dad, Norman Taurog. The little boy's salary will be donated to the Hathaway Home for Children.

My old friend, J. P. McEvoy, who has been recuperating at a ranch in Colorado, goes to Brenda Fraser's estate in Havana to complete his recovery.

Ruth and Garson Kanin have taken a house in Juan Les Pins for the summer. Their first house guests will be Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier — which proves that Vivien is much better.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

To look like a mermaid in your swim suit, use these five techniques of the models!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Look at any stunning swim-suit advertisement or picture and if you think it's just the good figure and the right suit that creates all of that attraction, you've never been a model. Beauty in a bathing suit takes something that is a lot harder to find. It takes a bit of know-how in the matter of disposing your extremities. And it takes super posture and poise.

Given just an average figure, any girl can surpass a less-informed sister who is better endowed by Nature — if she knows the secrets of being a bathing beauty. That's what I'm about to pass on to you right now.

No. 1. Look to your grooming before you make your appearance in public. In the simplest fashion, be as slick and as smooth as you know how to present yourself.

Swim-suit Posture

No. 2. Remember that in a swim suit, it's never wise to let yourself recline in the fashion of a tired-out puppy. If you recall pictures of beauties you have seen and admired, you'll note that when seated on the sand, pool's edge or convenient rock, there was a decided absence of any rounded shoulders or curved spine. These qualities only add years to a figure. Youth and beauty are transmitted to the eye of the beholder when you keep your back and head erect at all times. Actually, it's a comfortable posture, once you make it your habit.

No. 3. Take care in the placement of your legs. Keep them close together. When standing, keep your knees flexed, for rigid knees can make you appear bow legged whether you are or not. When seated, cross your legs at the ankles, or pull both legs as far to one side as you can. Grace in reclining positions is attained by extending your legs and ankles and pointing your toes. It is a gimmick that attenuates your entire body line, making you seem more willowy and slender.

Starry Stillness

No. 4. Whenever you are wearing a swim suit, hold your chest high and keep your abdomen as flat as you can with your pelvis tilted to enhance this flatness by tucking your buttocks well in and under. This is not only the line of beauty — it's the most healthful line, the one Nature intended you to have.

No. 5. And hold onto your poise! Unless you are actually swimming, walking, playing a game — or carrying on some other purposeful activity — sit still, lie still or stand still. If your posture is what it should be, it's just that kind of stillness that gives others the chance to admire it!

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

NEW YORK (INS) — Joe Stalin made Lavrenti Beria. But the condemned man will never really know who broke him. There's no information booth in hell.

Purger, Beria, now purged, is the scapegoat of the rebellion of the Soviet Union's slaves. As minister of interior he was charged with holding in ruthless check all inmates of the iron curtain. No man can tell how many died in his torture chambers, his prisons, his forced labor camps, so that "order" might be kept. But the slaves rebelled.

Beria might have been broken by an unknown East German carpenter, let's say, who stirred the dormant unrest in his fellow workers by crying, "Let's march to Government House in Leipsigstrasse and protest this new order calling upon us to produce 10 per cent more work with no more food."

Or maybe it was the kid who threw that first rock at the Red army tank, or the men who tore down the Red flag from the top of Brandenburg Gate. Or a grimy miner who led other desperate men to strike the Czechoslovakian uranium mines. Or an humble mechanic who put together the bomb which blew up the first tank in Poland. Or a school teacher in Hungary, an unknown tobacco worker in Bulgaria. Anybody.

Sergei Kruglov, now purger of purger Beria, can mull over this: His life is in the hands of his victims the enslaved. If he looks the wrong way, or dozes, or fails to ferret out the leader who lives in a remote cave, or in a sewer in Warsaw, he — Kruglov — will die as Beria will die, broken in spirit and body, dazedly parroting a confession, butchered by a firing squad.

Let's hope the Voice of America is penetrating the iron curtain and out-shouting the pestiferous Soviet jamming stations, to tell the world about a one-time ward of the U. S. which is now doing real good on its own.

Puerto Rico is the land in question. It will be one year old as a non-colony this month. The commonwealth has informed the United Nations that it will no longer submit reports as a non-self-governing area. It has arrived, and by doing so it is kicking to shreds the Communist lie about "U. S. imperialism."

Puerto Rico elects its own governor, writes its own laws. Its people are American citizens with all the rights and responsibilities that pertain thereto. The island has no representation in Congress, and, therefore, no federal income taxes. This has caused an influx of investment capital that has whittled unemployment down to its lowest figure in years.

The government spends more than a thousand of its budget for education. Puerto Rico has built more low-income dwelling units than any state in the union except Texas. Health programs have raised the 1940 life expectancy of 46 years to 61 years. Malaria, once a scourge, has been knocked down to 7.9 per thousand, lower than the mainland rate.

There is room for improvement, and the will to achieve it. The Reds will have to look elsewhere for an example of that imperialism they're always yacking about.

Speaking of anniversaries, this is the year of the first half-century of the airplane.

The fragile kite of the Wright Brothers has grown to play a major role in the American's livelihood, his means of communication, his habits, his standard of living.

The airplane made every large city in the land a great port. "A city's economic health now depends to a considerable degree on its ability to accommodate aircraft safely and efficiently," a commission declared recently.

The industry points to Los Angeles as an example. Last year more than 2,200,000 passengers flew in or out of the L. A. airports. There were 125,000 landings and takeoffs of big transports. They carried 30,000,000 pounds of mail, 42,000,000 pounds of freight, and the passengers spent $65,000,000 in and around the city.

And L. A. is but one of 6,000 U. S. airports.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 12—(INS)—Right from New York I get the news that Paramount has finally closed a deal to buy "Hazel Flagg," based on Ben Hecht's story. This was taken from "Nothing Sacred," the old Carol Lombard and Freddie March success which David O. Selznick made years ago.

The thing that surprises me the most about "Hazel Flagg" is that it was bought for Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. I had thought the boys were tied up with Hal Wallis, but it seems they have the right to an outside picture. For instance, "The Caddy" was made for Paramount.

In the stage play "Hazel Flagg" starred Helen Gallagher, Thomas Mitchell and Jack Whiting. The screen version will have Producer Paul Jones at the helm, with Norman Taurog directing.

Cinderella discovery of new young talent is what has always made Hollywood the glamour city of the world. There's been much too little of that lately, so I am very pleased to tell you that Warners has a new actress by the name of Dolores Dorn, who will co-star with Randy Scott in "The Bounty Hunters."

Now just a word about Dolores, who is blonde, beautiful, and very likely to follow the pattern of Doris Day's success. Dolores was in the Chicago Goodman Art Theatre, where she was billed under her real name, Dolores Heft.

However, Sol Biano, Warner talent scout, first saw her at a drugstore across from Warners Studio, sipping a glass of milk.

Dimitri Tiomkin has made an offer to MGM for the rights to "The Great Waltz," made many years ago as a film starring Militza Korjus.

If Tiomkin puts over the deal, he'll make the film in Vienna, the birthplace of Strauss. He does not plan to use a top singer, but he's interested in a girl with the tricky name of "Miss Los Angeles." She won a vocal contest and was given this handle. However, Tiomkin says she has one of the great young voices of today, naturally, she will change her name to something more pleasing.

At dinner the other evening, Frances Bergen told me how much she loved Ireland. Seems Charlie McCarthy wore a red wig there and the Irish took this almost human little character right to their hearts.

Frances said that while in Stockholm, Edgar ate so much smorgasbord it was practically coming out of his ears.

"I was thrilled," Frances said, "with the way all the people in Edgar's native country welcomed him. It was the most wonderful trip we've ever had."

What a great girl Frances is. Edgar is lucky to have her, but then she's lucky to have him, too, so that makes them even.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jean Negulesco and his wife, the former Dusty Anderson, staged a reconciliation in Paris.

Shades of my childhood! After a wonderful dinner at Jack's at the Beach, we went to Ocean Park. Sally Eilers, her husband Holly Morse, and her good looking son, Harry Joe Brown, Jr., went with us and we played all the games along the boardwalk. Even rode the merry-go-round!

Katherine Thalberg was presented with the original shooting script of "Romeo and Juliet" on the MGM lot at luncheon a few days ago. Her mother, Norma Shearer, starred in this picture, and her father, the late Irving Thalberg, produced it.

Olivia De Havilland goes to Broadway in the fall to star in the French play, "The Shining Hour." She and Jose Ferrer will do the same play in La Jolla in August.

The premiere of "Return to Paradise" is set for Samoa. The natives are calling it "Kalikupo," which means "Lots of Money," and is the name they call Gary Cooper.

Jonathan Taurog makes his screen debut in the Community Chest film directed by his dad, Norman Taurog. The little boy's salary will be donated to the Hathaway Home for Children.

My old friend, J. P. McEvoy, who has been recuperating at a ranch in Colorado, goes to Brenda Fraser's estate in Havana to complete his recovery.

Ruth and Garson Kanin have taken a house in Juan Les Pins for the summer. Their first house guests will be Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier — which proves that Vivien is much better.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

To look like a mermaid in your swim suit, use these five techniques of the models!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Look at any stunning swim-suit advertisement or picture and if you think it's just the good figure and the right suit that creates all of that attraction, you've never been a model. Beauty in a bathing suit takes something that is a lot harder to find. It takes a bit of know-how in the matter of disposing your extremities. And it takes super posture and poise.

Given just an average figure, any girl can surpass a less-informed sister who is better endowed by Nature — if she knows the secrets of being a bathing beauty. That's what I'm about to pass on to you right now.

No. 1. Look to your grooming before you make your appearance in public. In the simplest fashion, be as slick and as smooth as you know how to present yourself.

Swim-suit Posture

No. 2. Remember that in a swim suit, it's never wise to let yourself recline in the fashion of a tired-out puppy. If you recall pictures of beauties you have seen and admired, you'll note that when seated on the sand, pool's edge or convenient rock, there was a decided absence of any rounded shoulders or curved spine. These qualities only add years to a figure. Youth and beauty are transmitted to the eye of the beholder when you keep your back and head erect at all times. Actually, it's a comfortable posture, once you make it your habit.

No. 3. Take care in the placement of your legs. Keep them close together. When standing, keep your knees flexed, for rigid knees can make you appear bow legged whether you are or not. When seated, cross your legs at the ankles, or pull both legs as far to one side as you can. Grace in reclining positions is attained by extending your legs and ankles and pointing your toes. It is a gimmick that attenuates your entire body line, making you seem more willowy and slender.

Starry Stillness

No. 4. Whenever you are wearing a swim suit, hold your chest high and keep your abdomen as flat as you can with your pelvis tilted to enhance this flatness by tucking your buttocks well in and under. This is not only the line of beauty — it's the most healthful line, the one Nature intended you to have.

No. 5. And hold onto your poise! Unless you are actually swimming, walking, playing a game — or carrying on some other purposeful activity — sit still, lie still or stand still. If your posture is what it should be, it's just that kind of stillness that gives others the chance to admire it!

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal — to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Today In Washington

iety given to the Matthews article and the wrong inferences that can be drawn from the exchange of telegrams between the three prominent ministers and the President. In a telegram from these three ministers of different faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—to the President is the followning sentence:

"The sweeping attack on the loyalty of Protestant clergymen and the charge that they are the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus is unjustified and deplorable."

It would indeed have been unjustified and deplorable if that charge actually had been made by Mr. Matthews, but anybody comparing the above with the exact language of the magazine article will see at once that he was referring to a minority and that what he wrote was given a distorted meaning probably because of bad reporting in the press last week. He didn't attack the "loyalty of Protestant clergymen," but pointed to a minority, who, by their activities, had been suporting Communist-inspired propaganda in America. "Loyalty" to this country is not necessarily abandoned by those who "support" Communist propaganda. The distinction has been made many times in controversial cases.

President Eisenhower, in his reply, fell into the same error. He said in his message:

Quotes Hoover

"Generalized and irresponsible attacks that sweepingly condemn the whole of any group of citizens are alien to America. Such attacks betray contempt for the principles of freedom and decency. And when these attacks—whatever their professed purpose be—condemn such a vast portion of the churches or the clergy as to create doubt in the loyalty of all, the damage to our nation is multiplied."

But would any fair-minded person say that an attack on less than three per cent of the members of one sectarian group is the same as attacks that "sweepingly condemn the whole of any group?" Or can it even be said that such an attack is leveled at "a vast portion of the churches or the clergy?"

It is conceded that the Communists have tried to enlist the support of the American clergy especially in some of their "phoney" peace moves in 1951 designed to create public sentiment adverse to our rearmament program. A committee of the House of Representatives on April 1, 1951, listed in a public report the names of 471 Protestant clergymen as participants in the Communist-inspired "peace offensive." Mr. Matthews, in his article, speaks of 1,000 who participated in that move alone and says no "anguished cries" came at that time in protest.

Mr. Matthews also pointed out that as early as March, 1947, before a committee of the House of Representatives, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, testified as follows:

"I confess to a real apprehension so long as the Communists are able to secure ministers of the gospel to promote their evil work and espouse a cause that is alien to the religion of Christ and Judaism."

Should some committee of Congress find out exactly how many persons in the clergy are really involved in some of the categories mentioned by Mr. Matthews and the true nature of their activities? Should the original manuscript of the Matthews article be subpoenaed to see to what extent the transposition of sentences gave undue emphasis and to determine what changes in emphasis, if any, were made by the editors to sensationalize it for reader interest—as reported to some people on Capitol Hill last week? Should a man be punished for his views publicly expressed before he is employed by the government? Wouldn't that be a species of "job-burning" and suppression of ideas in a land of freedom of speech?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Today In Washington

iety given to the Matthews article and the wrong inferences that can be drawn from the exchange of telegrams between the three prominent ministers and the President. In a telegram from these three ministers of different faiths—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish—to the President is the followinig sentence:

"The sweeping attack on the loyalty of Protestant clergymen and the charge that they are the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus is unjustified and deplorable."

It would indeed have been unjustified and deplorable if that charge actually had been made by Mr. Matthews, but anybody comparing the above with the exact language of the magazine article will see at once that he was referring to a minority and that what he wrote was given a distorted meaning probably because of bad reporting in the press last week. Should some committee of Congress find out exactly how many persons in the clergy are really involved in some of the categories mentioned by Mr. Matthews and the true nature of their activities? Should the original manuscript of the Matthews article be subpoenaed to see to what extent the transposition of sentences gave undue emphasis and to determine what changes in emphasis, if any, were made by the editors to sensationalize it for reader interest—as reported to some people on Capitol Hill last week? Should a man be punished for his views publicly expressed before he is employed by the government? Wouldn't that be a species of "job-burning" and suppression of ideas in a land of freedom of speech?

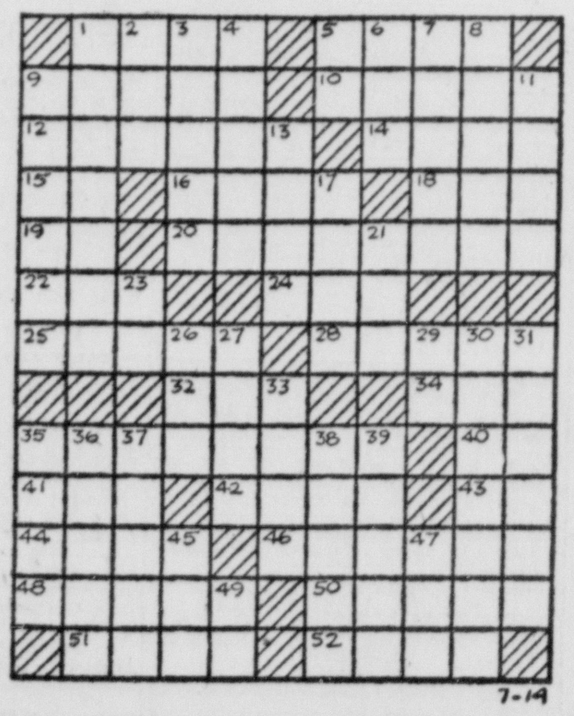
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

CQRH IGOC ZMCRX PQUXJR, OUHO PZXMGPYGO, FQZ FZGTA VR PZXOCUXC YX QUKKYXROO ZL FYOAZI—JZTAOIYCQ.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THERE IS NO HEAVEN LIKE MUTUAL LOVE—GRANVILLE.

BLONDIE'S NOT HOME YET--I'LL COOK THE SUPPER WHILE WE'RE WAITING FOR HER
AH--THIS IS GOING TO BE AN EXTRA-SPECIAL, SUPER-PEACHY KEEN SUPPER
SURPRISE--SUPPER'S ALL READY FOR US TO SIT DOWN AND EAT
DID YOU FORGET THIS IS THE NIGHT WE'RE INVITED OUT TO EAT AT THE McNUFFS?

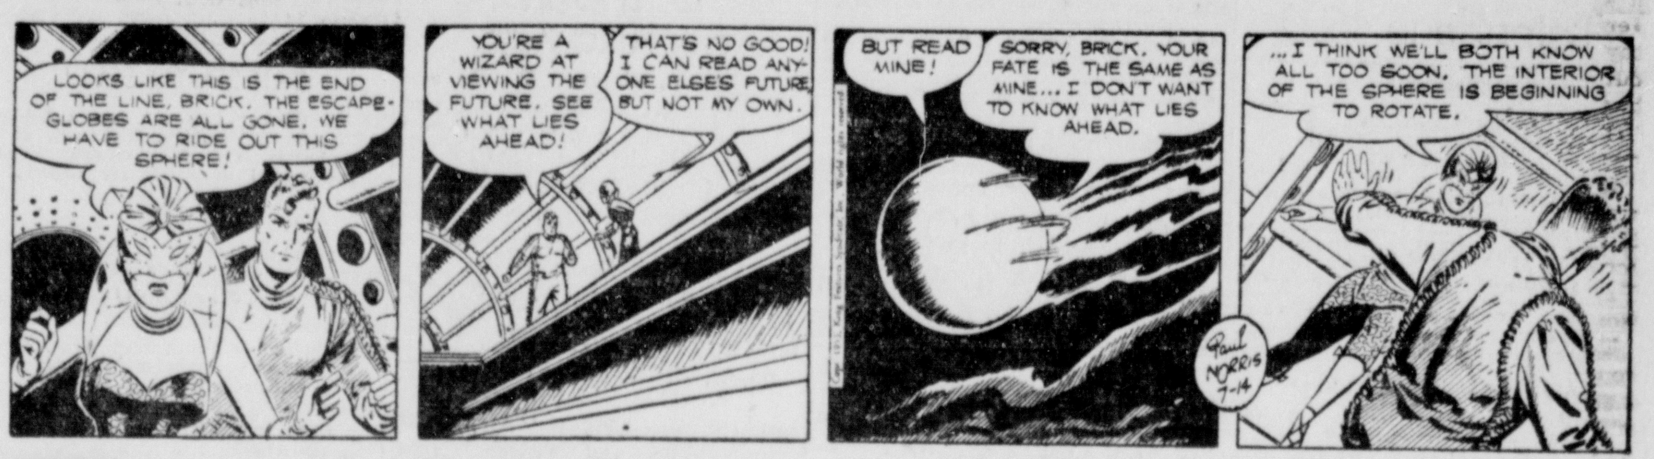
BRICK BRADFORD



LOOKS LIKE THIS IS THE END OF THE LINE, BRICK. THE ESCAPE-GLOBES ARE ALL GONE. WE HAVE TO RIDE OUT THIS SPHERE!
YOU'RE A WIZARD AT VIEWING THE FUTURE. SEE WHAT LIES AHEAD!
THAT'S NO GOOD! I CAN READ ANYONE ELSE'S FUTURE BUT NOT MY OWN.
BUT READ MINE!
SORRY, BRICK. YOUR FATE IS THE SAME AS MINE... I DON'T WANT TO KNOW WHAT LIES AHEAD.
...I THINK WE'LL BOTH KNOW ALL TOO SOON. THE INTERIOR OF THE SPHERE IS BEGINNING TO ROTATE.

NO ONE'S IN THIS ROOM EITHER
CAREFUL! DO YOU HEAR SOMETHING?
ONLY THE WIND MOANING OUTSIDE.
SHHH! SEEMS TO ME I HEARD VOICES FROM THE OBSERVATORY TOWER.
THEN COME ON! IT'S THE ONLY PLACE LEFT WHERE ILYA AND THE BEARDED GUY COULD BE.

YOU SEE, 3-D. THE TOP SECTION OF THE CASING WAS WIDE ENOUGH TO SQUEEZE IN THE BODY WITH THE ARMS UP.
BUT BELOW THE FIRST SECTION, THE CASING DROPS TO 10 INCHES. THE BODY COULDN'T FALL.
WHAT ABOUT THE DECAYING EFFECT OF DAMPNESS— BODY DECOMPOSITION AND DETERIORATION OF THE CLOTHING?
I SAY EVERYTHING'S STILL THERE!
CHESTER GOULD
100 THOUSAND DOLLARS! THIS IS ONE DEMAND SHE CAN'T GET AWAY WITH! I'LL GO TO HER AND TELL HER SO!

Defense Stocks Turn Soft And Head Market Decline

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Defense stocks turned soft today and headed a decline in the Stock Market. Losses ran to between 1 and 3 points at the outside in representative areas.

The fall was neither urgent nor extended and appeared to encompass most of the groups that benefit from defense activity. At the same time there was considerable steadiness apparent in stocks of companies more or less removed from the defense sphere.

A period of steadiness prevailed when many stocks got up from their lows and the pace of trading slackened. At the close, however, most of the market was around its worst of the day.

The extent of the fall was measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $1.20, the biggest decline in around five weeks. The average now stands at $107.30. It was the third straight fall for the average after six straight advances.

The industrial component of the average was down $1.40, the railroads were down $1.50, and the utilities were down 30 cents.

The list expanded somewhat to include 1,135 individual issues of which 178 advanced and 719 declined with 7 new highs and 65 new lows for the year touched during the day.

Lack of urgency in the decline was indicated by the fact that only 1,120,000 shares changed hands. That was considerably higher than Friday's total of 860,000 shares but it is well below the daily average so far this year.

Defense Stocks Turn Soft And Head Market Decline

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Defense stocks turned soft today and headed a decline in the Stock Market. Losses ran to between 1 and 3 points at the outside in representative areas.

The fall was neither urgent nor extended and appeared to encompass most of the groups that benefit from defense activity. At the same time there was considerable steadiness apparent in stocks of companies more or less removed from the defense sphere.

A period of steadiness prevailed when many stocks got up from their lows and the pace of trading slackened. At the close, however, most of the market was around its worst of the day.

The extent of the fall was measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $1.20, the biggest decline in around five weeks. The average now stands at $107.30. It was the third straight fall for the average after six straight advances.

The industrial component of the average was down $1.40, the railroads were down $1.50, and the utilities were down 30 cents.

The list expanded somewhat to include 1,135 individual issues of which 178 advanced and 719 declined with 7 new highs and 65 new lows for the year touched during the day.

Lack of urgency in the decline was indicated by the fact that only 1,120,000 shares changed hands. That was considerably higher than Friday's total of 860,000 shares but it is well below the daily average so far this year.

Mineral Co. Man Ordered Held On Bigamy Charge

Charles Sperling, 26, Nabbed In Auto Chase

A 26-year-old man who police said was married twice in four years without bothering to get a divorce landed in Mineral County Jail yesterday on a bigamy charge.

Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, in a hearing at Keyser, ordered Charles O. Sperling, formerly of Mineral County, held for grand jury action after he was unable to raise $3,000 bond.

West Virginia State Police said they arrested Sperling after a wild automobile chase over back roads Saturday morning.

Trooper W. Frank Bowley said the case started when young Sperling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sperling, who live on Knobley Mountain Road, complained that a 19-year-old girl was wrecking the interior of their house.

Bowley found windows smashed, flower pots broken, furniture damaged, and the house generally a shambles. Later, he arrested Miss Donna Mae Hobin, 19, of the Westernport area, as she headed for Keyser in a taxi.

The trooper said he learned that the incident resulted from an argument between Miss Hobin and young Sperling. The Hobin girl was lodged in County Jail on a charge of destroying property.

Then, said Bowley and Cpl. F. H. Tribbett, police learned that Sperling had two wives. They said he married the former Rosetta Green in 1948, and in 1952 was married to the former Evelyn Virginia Crawford. Both marriages reportedly took place in Maryland.

When the troopers went to Sperling's home to arrest him, they said, he fled in a car. The officers pursued Sperling as far as the stone quarry on Waxler Road, where he eluded them and headed toward his home. Later, they found him hiding in the attic of the house.

Sperling currently is on probation granted at the April term of Mineral County Circuit Court after he pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of storage batteries from the Spencer Lime Quarry.

Police yesterday said the whereabouts of the two Mrs. Sperlings had not been definitely established.

Scene Of Fatal Crash

Mrs. Jean Weber Getson (lower photo), 23, of Lonaconing, died in the blazing wreckage of the car at right when it collided with another near Alexandria, Va., early Sunday. Mrs. Getson was trapped in the back seat of the car when the rear door (center) was crushed. Her husband, Robert Getson, was burned when he tried in vain to rescue his wife from the burning vehicle. A funeral service will be conducted at 2 p. m. today at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sarah Weber, Knapps Meadow, with Rev. Joseph W. Young, pastor of First Methodist Church, Lonaconing, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery at Lonaconing.

Ridgeley Man Killed In Unusual Auto Crash

Wife Grabs Driver Around Neck

Edgar Shillenberger, 71-year old onetime Ridgeley police chief, died about noon yesterday in a Clarksburg, W. Va., hospital of injuries he sustained a short time earlier when his car crashed after his deranged wife grabbed him around the neck as he was driving her toward the West Virginia Mental Hospital at Weston.

Hospital attaches told Ridgeley relatives of the dead man that Mrs. Shillenberger sustained a broken arm and cuts. H. Glenn Phillips, Ridgeley constable, who was accompanying Shillenberger on his ill-fated trip, sustained a neck injury but was able to return home by train from Clarksburg last night.

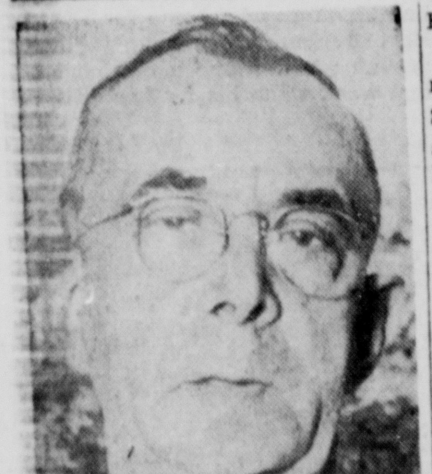
The fatal accident occurred about six miles from Clarksburg.

Mrs. Shillenberger, who periodically had been allowed to leave the Weston institution to return home for visits, had been in Ridgeley about three weeks. They lived on Central Avenue.

A native of Grant County, W. Va., Shillenberger had spent most of his life in Mineral County. He had lived in Ridgeley since 1942 and had served as police chief and constable for part of that time. Previously, he had been a policeman in Romney, W. Va. At the time of his death Shillenberger was employed as a janitor at the Celanese plant.

Surviving besides his wife, who was still a patient in the hospital at Clarksburg last night, are three daughters, Mrs. Fannie Hedrick, Third Street, Keyser, W. Va.; Mrs. Edith Wilfong, Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. Ethel Stonebreaker, Canton, Ohio, and three brothers, Wilbur Shillenberger, Albert, W. Va.; Morris Shillenberger of Green Mountain, near Keyser, and Gibson Shillenberger of Mt. Storm, W. Va.

The Rodgers Funeral Home of Keyser is in charge of funeral arrangements. The funeral service tentatively has been set for 2 p. m. Thursday at the funeral home.



C. A. JEWELL

C. A. Jewell Services Slated For Thursday

Funeral services for Charles Alexander Jewell, 70, former Mineral County Justice of the Peace and prominent Ridgeley realtor, who died yesterday morning at his home, 5 Bridge Street, Ridgeley, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in Calvary Methodist Church.

The body will be taken to the church at noon Thursday where it will remain until time of service. Rev. T. R. Hall, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Mr. Jewell was born December 25, 1882, in Hampshire county, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Jewell. He was employed by the Western Maryland Railway until 1925 when he entered the real estate business. He had resided in Ridgeley since 1909.

Mr. Jewell served as justice of the peace in Mineral county for 15 years, retiring in 1951.

He was a member of Calvary Methodist Church, Chosen Friends Lodge 34, IOOF; Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Division 640 BPO Elks Lodge 63; Lions Club of Ridgeley, West Virginia, Maryland and National Real Estate Boards, and Mineral County and Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Jewell was a past secretary-treasurer of the Locomotive Engineers, past president of the Ridgeley Lions, past general superintendent of Calvary Sunday School and past president of the

Parents Here Will Attend Conference

Parents of Allegany County school children are being invited to attend a three-day conference for leaders and potential leaders of Parent Study Groups to be held July 21, 22 and 23 at the University of Maryland, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the Allegany County schools.

Higgins said the conference is being arranged by the Institute of Child Study of the University of Maryland. Daily sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the reception room of the Recreation Hall.

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel, reports that both professional and parent leaders are welcome. There will be lectures to present some techniques of leadership and new films will be shown.

The parent study group program in Allegany County has made considerable progress this year. The first such program was started in the 1951-52 school year. Some 13 more were begun in the past school year as parents sought ways of discussing their mutual problems. About 125 parents are active in the 14 groups.

Allegany County residents who would like to attend the conference and 'would like more details are requested to contact Higgins or Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, chairman of parent education, for the County PTA Council.

Firemen To Receive Training Certificates

Graduation exercises will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Central Fire Station for 52 city firemen who have completed a University of Maryland course in advanced fire fighting.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long will present certificates and the Mayor and Council will witness the ceremony.

State Supervisor Checks County Vo-Ag Boys Work

Summer time is vacation time for most of Allegany County's school pupils. But what is true for the vast majority is not true for the boys who are taking vocational agriculture.

That fact was emphasized yesterday when Harry M. McDonald, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, visited his native county. McDonald was born in Barton and is a brother of C. K. McDonald, LaVale, a deputy clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

McDonald spent yesterday touring the county to check on projects which the vocational agriculture boys are carrying on this summer. Included are such programs as gardening, livestock and poultry production.

In the morning McDonald and James H. House, supervisor of vocational agriculture, visited the farms of boys taking vo-ag at Oldtown, Fort Hill, Allegany and Beall High Schools. House conducts classes for the future farmers in all four schools.

Then, yesterday afternoon, the state supervisor and Kenneth Malone, vocational agriculture teacher at Flintstone High School, visited the farms of the vo-ag boys in the Flintstone area to check the summer activities of the youngsters.

Needless to say, McDonald found that the vo-ag boys have not been idle this summer.

Gephart Stages Checkers Meet

Winners in the checkers and Chinese checkers tournaments held yesterday at the Gephart Playground will compete in the Northern Division finals at Columbia Street playground at 7 p. m. Thursday.

Checkers results:

Hyde To Support Bills Favored By Mailmen

Rural Carriers Open Convention

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde last night told the Maryland Rural Letter Carriers Association he will work to secure legislation which would improve the lot of America's rural mailmen.

The Western Maryland Congressman was principal speaker at a banquet of the association and its auxiliary at Big Savage Inn, where both groups opened their 50th anniversary convention yesterday.

Hyde said he favors an increase in per diem allowances for carriers to $4. The present law limits them to $3.

A resolution now pending in Congress, said Hyde, would raise the mileage rate to 10 cents and provide a $3.50 allowance. The carrier would collect whichever amount was larger.

Hyde said he favors the 10 cent-$4 plan sought by the New Mexico Rural Letter Carriers Association.

"Inasmuch as your income is tied to mileage," Hyde told the carriers, "an increase in equipment upkeep spells a reduction in pay." He said he also favors an overtime provision for rural carriers.

Referring to the association's golden anniversary, Hyde said Maryland has a special interest in rural delivery, since the first county-wide delivery in the U. S. was tried in Carroll County in 1899.

David Kauffman, Cumberland attorney, was toastmaster at the banquet, which was attended by 110 persons. Mayor Jesse Jacobs of Frostburg extended the city's welcome to the group.

At the opening business session yesterday morning, Frostburg Postmaster Michael J. Byrnes said few experiments in American history have proved as successful as the inauguration of the RFD.

His views were echoed by R. M. Johnson, Cumberland postal inspector, who spoke of the important part rural carriers play in the lives of the persons who live on their routes.

The association also heard from two of its veteran carriers, William C. Stevens, 83, of Queen Anne, Talbot County, who is retired after spending 50 years in the service, and Nurman Wallen, 74, of Millington, Kent County, a 50-year member of the association.

Other speakers and guests were Bun Raley, Valley Mills, Tex., president of the national association; J. A. Cooper, Chevy Chase, former superintendent of rural mails; Mrs. John E. Grace, McIntyre, Iowa, a national auxiliary committeewoman; Mrs. Charles Bilbrough Jr., Greensboro, president of the state auxiliary; Mrs. Edward Moore, vice president; Mrs. William Stevens, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. A. W. Myers, who was in charge of a memorial service for deceased members.

Weather

Rather cool weather continued in the Cumberland area yesterday accompanied by ideal humidity percentage. Officially, humidity was down to a dry 26.5 per cent at 6 p. m. yesterday. High temperature as reported by Constitution Park weather station, was 88; low was 54 and at 9 o'clock last night, mercury stood at 74 degrees. Forecast for today is some cloudiness but mostly sunny with highest between 80 and 86 degrees.

He Slept In!

The June report of the Police and Fire Departments, read at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council, noted a three-day suspension meted out to Police Officer Donald W. Smith.

Queried as to the cause of the disciplinary action, Police Commissioner John J. Long referred a reporter to Police Chief R. E. Flynn, who he said imposed the suspension.

Chief Flynn referred the questioner to Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, who was in charge of the platoon at the time of the incident, however the chief said he "believed" the cause was failing to report off.

Lt. Johnston was not available for comment.

The mystery was cleared up by a call to Officer Smith. The officer said he "slept in" after he "failed to heed the alarm clock."

Boy, 7, Is First Tucker County Polio Patient

A seven-year-old boy is the victim of the first case of poliomyelitis to be discovered this year in Tucker County, W. Va.

He is James Poling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Poling of St. George.

The boy was taken to Morris Memorial Hospital, Milton, W.Va., in the ambulance of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Company Thursday night after he became ill.

Mrs. Gladys Hehle of Parsons, secretary of the Tucker County chapter of the Infantile Paralysis Foundation, said the hospital reported a diagnosis of polio yesterday.

The boy's parents said he seemed to be doing well, and doctors had expressed optimism that he would not be permanently disabled.

State Foundation Expends $257,808 For Polio In '52

Maryland's National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis expended $257,808.65 for aid last year to those stricken with the dread crippling disease, a report from Catherine C. Gaule, state representative, shows.

The net income in 1952 for the state was $316,932.46 amounting to an excess of $59,123.81 income over the expenditures for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1952.

Broken down the report by the state organization shows $62,420.94 spent for 247 new cases of polio which occurred in 1952, $159,942.17 spent on 477 cases carried over from former years, $7,310.91 for social service, $1,337.90 for education, $9,298.19 for equipment for hospitals and clinics, $17,186.88 for office general administrative expense.

With an advance of $30,325 from national headquarters for patient care plus deposits the balance in the state polio treasury was $124,008.19.

It was pointed out, however, that while the cash balance as of the end of 1952 for the 23 counties of Maryland and Baltimore City was over $100,000 there still were thousands of dollars' worth of unpaid bills for the state to be taken care after the 1953 March of Dimes.

Currently several counties, Worcester, Frederick and Charles, have liquidated their funds and are applying for advances to pay commitments.

As of December 31, 1952, there is an active caseload of 724 cases of polio under treatment in the state plus the unknown incidence for new cases in the current year.

120 Rechecks Asked After Chest Survey

Conditions justifying further investigation were reported in 120 of the 6,715 X-ray pictures taken in the mass chest survey held in Allegany County during March and April.

Reports from the survey have been forwarded to the Allegany County Health Department by the Division of Tuberculosis Services of the State Department of Health.

Full size X-ray pictures have already been taken by the Health Department or by private physicians of virtually all those recommended for rechecks.

Studies of the miniature film by X-ray experts of the state indicated 29 positive for tuberculosis. These included 24 minimal cases and five moderately advanced.

Another four X-rays were listed as indicating suspicion of TB and 13 others, possible tuberculosis on the basis of calcification.

Another 27 pictures were listed for investigation for non tubercular conditions of the chest cavity. Diagnosis was deferred in 47 cases.

During the survey, a total of 6,715 X-rays were taken of 3,221 men and 3,494 women of this county.

These included 3,197 white males and 3,470 white females and 49 colored, evenly divided between male and female.

Only four of the X-rays were unsatisfactory for diagnostic purposes.

The bulk of the persons who took advantage of the survey were between the ages of 15 and 44, including 2,382 in the 15-24 age group.

The final results of the survey are not yet known, but treatment of about a half dozen active cases—unknown prior to the survey, is already underway.

Public Is Urged To Attend Dedication

The Mayor and Council yesterday urged the public to attend the dedication of the new filter units at Lake Gordon tomorrow at 2 p. m.

Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, will be master of ceremonies at the dedication. Short talks will be made by Mayor Roy W. Eves; William J. Edwards, water commissioner, and J. Raymond Hoffert, Camp Hill, Pa., chief engineer of the Bureau of Sanitary Engineer of the Pennsylvania Board of Health.

Miss Maryland Inc. Signs Pact With Theatre

Officials of Miss Maryland Pageant Inc. have signed a contract with the Maryland Theatre for the "Miss Maryland" beauty pageant to be held in the theatre August 13.

Several state organizations have obtained franchises to enter representatives in the state event, officers announced.

The Elks Club of Annapolis plans to enter "Miss Annapolis" in the local event. "Miss Annapolis" will be selected at a pageant there on July 21.

The Victory Villa Teen Club of Middle River has notfied local officials it will enter a representative from that section of Baltimore County. The representative will be selected at a contest to be held on July 23.

"Miss Western Shore" will also enter the state contest here. She will be selected at a beauty pageant to be held July 25 and sponsored by the Cambridge Elks Club.

The first entry was Miss Carolyn Deck, 18, who was chosen "Miss Western Maryland" last month at a local contest sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Corporation officials said a program of six vaudeville acts is planned as an added attraction for the beauty contest. Entertainment will consist of area talent and will be presented on the stage of the Maryland Theatre.

Advanced seat reservations will go on sale August 1.

News In Brief

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Smith, National Highway, received a telephone call Sunday from their son, Pvt. Ronald A. Smith, stationed with the 80th Ordnance Supply Company in Nancy, France.

An outside Coca Cola machine at Miller's Sunoco Service Station on Greene Street was found jimmied yesterday. Police said no attempt was made to enter the station.

City police have issued more than 850 new 1953-54 bicycle permits since July 1. Stenographer Carolyn Welsh and Officer Joseph H. Stitcher have charge of the assignment.

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, will hold a membership meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at Textile Hall.

Cumberland Tent 18, Maccabees, reported yesterday that its record keeper, Mrs. Bernice A. Morehead, is located on RFD 3, Bedford Road.

Miss Bishop, 19, will be crowned at a squadron dance Thursday night at the Air Force base. She entered the Air Force July 9, 1952.

Ridgeley Man Killed In Unusual Auto Crash

Wife Grabs Driver Around Neck

Edgar Shillenberger, 71-year old onetime Ridgeley police chief, died about noon yesterday in a Clarksburg, W. Va., hospital of injuries he sustained a short time earlier when his car crashed after his deranged wife grabbed him around the neck as he was driving her toward the West Virginia Mental Hospital at Weston.

Hospital attaches told Ridgeley relatives of the dead man that Mrs. Shillenberger sustained a broken arm and cuts. H. Glenn Phillips, Ridgeley constable, who was accompanying Shillenberger on his ill-fated trip, sustained a neck injury but was able to return home by train from Clarksburg last night.

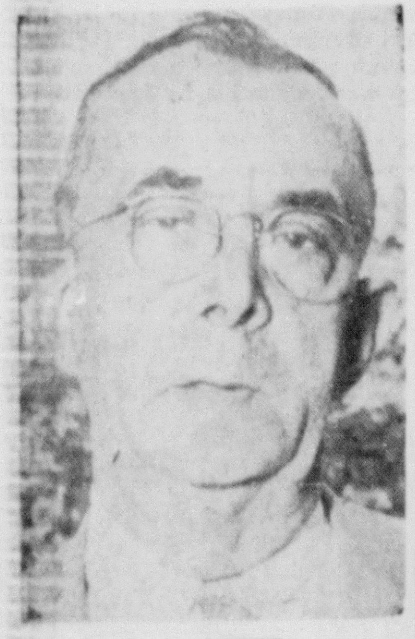
The fatal accident occurred about six miles from Clarksburg.

Mrs. Shillenberger, who periodically had been allowed to leave the Weston institution to return home for visits, had been in Ridgeley about three weeks. They lived on Central Avenue.

A native of Grant County, W. Va., Shillenberger had spent most of his life in Mineral County. He had lived in Ridgeley since 1942 and had served as police chief and constable for part of that time. Previously, he had been a policeman in Romney, W. Va. At the time of his death Shillenberger was employed as a janitor at the Celanese plant.

Surviving besides his wife, who was still a patient in the hospital at Clarksburg last night, are three daughters, Mrs. Fannie Hedrick, Third Street, Keyser, W. Va.; Mrs. Edith Wilfong, Toledo, Ohio, and Mrs. Ethel Stonebreaker, Canton, Ohio, and three brothers, Wilbur Shillenberger, Albert, W. Va.; Morris Shillenberger of Green Mountain, near Keyser, and Gibson Shillenberger of Mt. Storm, W. Va.

The Rodgers Funeral Home of Keyser is in charge of funeral arrangements. The funeral service tentatively has been set for 2 p. m. Thursday at the funeral home.



C. A. JEWELL

C. A. Jewell Services Slated For Thursday

Funeral services for Charles Alexander Jewell, 70, former Mineral County Justice of the Peace and prominent Ridgeley realtor, who died yesterday morning at his home, 5 Bridge Street, Ridgeley, will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in Calvary Methodist Church.

The body will be taken to the church at noon Thursday where it will remain until time of service. Rev. T. R. Hall, pastor, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Mr. Jewell was born December 25, 1882, in Hampshire county, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Jewell. He was employed by the Western Maryland Railway until 1925 when he entered the real estate business. He had resided in Ridgeley since 1909.

Mr. Jewell served as justice of the peace in Mineral county for 15 years, retiring in 1951.

He was a member of Calvary Methodist Church, Chosen Friends Lodge 34, IOOF; Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Division 640 BPO Elks Lodge 63; Lions Club of Ridgeley, West Virginia, Maryland and National Real Estate Boards, and Mineral County and Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Jewell was a past secretary-treasurer of the Locomotive Engineers, past president of the Ridgeley Lions, past general superintendent of Calvary Sunday School and past president of the

Parents Here Will Attend Conference

Parents of Allegany County school children are being invited to attend a three-day conference for leaders and potential leaders of Parent Study Groups to be held July 21, 22 and 23 at the University of Maryland, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the Allegany County schools.

Higgins said the conference is being arranged by the Institute of Child Study of the University of Maryland. Daily sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the reception room of the Recreation Hall.

Miss Dorothy Shires, state supervisor of pupil personnel, reports that both professional and parent leaders are welcome. There will be lectures to present some techniques of leadership and new films will be shown.

The parent study group program in Allegany County has made considerable progress this year. The first such program was started in the 1951-52 school year. Some 13 more were begun in the past school year as parents sought ways of discussing their mutual problems. About 125 parents are active in the 14 groups.

Allegany County residents who would like to attend the conference and would like more details are requested to contact Higgins or Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, chairman of parent education, for the County PTA Council.

Firemen To Receive Training Certificates

Graduation exercises will be held Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Central Fire Station for 52 city firemen who have completed a University of Maryland course in advanced fire fighting.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long will present certificates and the Mayor and Council will witness the ceremony.

State Supervisor Checks County Vo-Ag Boys Work

Summer time is vacation time for most of Allegany County's school pupils. But what is true for the vast majority is not true for the boys who are taking vocational agriculture.

That fact was emphasized yesterday when Harry M. McDonald, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, visited his native county. McDonald was born in Barton and is a brother of C. K. McDonald, LaVale, a deputy clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

McDonald spent yesterday touring the county to check on projects which the vocational agriculture boys are carrying on this summer. Included are such programs as gardening, livestock and poultry production.

In the morning McDonald and James H. House, supervisor of vocational agriculture, visited the farms of boys taking vo-ag at Oldtown, Fort Hill, Allegany and Beall High Schools. House conducts classes for the future farmers in all four schools.

Then, yesterday afternoon, the state supervisor and Kenneth Malone, vocational agriculture teacher at Flintstone High School, visited the farms of the vo-ag boys in the Flintstone area to check the summer activities of the youngsters.

Needless to say, McDonald found that the vo-ag boys have not been idle this summer.

Mineral Co. Man Ordered Held On Bigamy Charge

Charles Sperling, 26, Nabbed In Auto Chase

A 26-year-old man who police said was married twice in four years without bothering to get a divorce landed in Mineral County Jail yesterday on a bigamy charge.

Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle, in a hearing at Keyser, ordered Charles O. Sperling, formerly of Mineral County, held for grand jury action after he was unable to raise $3,000 bond.

West Virginia State Police said they arrested Sperling after a wild automobile chase over back roads Saturday morning.

Trooper W. Frank Bowley said the case started when young Sperling's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sperling, who live on Knobley Mountain Road, complained that a 19-year-old girl was wrecking the interior of their house.

Bowley found windows smashed, flower pots broken, furniture damaged, and the house generally a shambles. Later, he arrested Miss Donna Mae Hobin, 19, of the Westernport area, as she headed for Keyser in a taxi.

The trooper said he learned that the incident resulted from an argument between Miss Hobin and young Sperling. The Hobin girl was lodged in County Jail on a charge of destroying property.

Then, said Bowley and Cpl. F. H. Tribbett, police learned that Sperling had two wives. They said he married the former Rosetta Green in 1948, and in 1952 was married to the former Evelyn Virginia Crawford. Both marriages reportedly took place in Maryland.

When the troopers went to Sperling's home to arrest him, they said, he fled in a car. The officers pursued Sperling as far as the stone quarry on Waxler Road, where he eluded them and headed toward his home. Later, they found him hiding in the attic of the house.

Sperling currently is on probation granted at the April term of Mineral County Circuit Court after he pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of storage batteries from the Spencer Lime Quarry.

Police yesterday said the whereabouts of the two Mrs. Sperlings had not been definitely established.
